Approval Given Plans For New Central Church

Central Presbyterian Members Pave Way For Taking Of Bids

Architects plans for the erection of a new church on the Wilmington road in Neshannock township were given full approval at a meeting of the Central Presbyterian Congregation, Wednesday evening, at the First Presbyterian church, North Jefferson street.

The meeting called, specifically to approve the plans, was well attended by members of the church who have been worshiping in temporary meeting places since the destruction of their church on the Diamond a year ago.

To Seek Bids Soon

The action of the congregation paved the way to complete the specifications on the building and advertise for bids on the construction of the new church. It is hoped that the architect will be able to submit copies of the building plans to contractors in about two weeks. By May 1, it is anticipated that advertisements for bids may be placed before the public.

E. Gene Schweinsberg, city director of streets, last night had employes scatter salt on snow-covered highways to prevent slipping. Some salt was also dumped on streets this morning, he reported. During a snow period recently when street workers were called out to work six nights, 300 tons of ashes and five tons of salt were scattered to prevent skidding.

Wet snow that fell in large quantities and stuck to everything in sight late Wednesday afternoon, turned the district into a winter fairyland, and many beautiful scenes were in evidence. It was the heaviest snowfall of the winter.

Probably a new record was hung up for many years by the state highway department force last night, when it was necessary to spend the night ashing highways of Lawrence county, which had become slippery due to the unusual April snow storm. Ashing highways because of snow on April 13 probably marks the latest period of the year for ashing in the spring in many long years.

Bixbys Back From Flight Round World

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—(INS)— The flying Bixbys, Bob and Dianna, landed at the San Francisco Airport early today, ending a 'round-the-world flight in which the husband-wife team tried but failed to set a new global speed record.

The couple brought their converted twin-engined Mosquito bomber down on the runway at 3:06 a. m. (PST), concluding the last lap of their world-girdling air journey from Midway in 11 hours and 16 minutes.

The Bixbys took off from Midway Island at 3:50 p. m. (PST) yesterday on the long trans-Pacific hop to San Francisco where they started their global flight 13 days ago.

As they stepped out of their plane, tired but smiling, they were asked whether they planned to try again for a new 'round-the-world record.

"No comment," answered Bob, while Dianna nodded assent to her husband's remard.

The Los Angeles flyers abandoned their try for a 'round-the-world flight record when their plane, the "Huntress," developed engine trouble after leaving Calcutta, India.

Mid-April Snow Glazes County Road System

In one desperate effort to make a comeback, winter weather blanketed the area over the past night, catching the highway department with its fences down and the district motorists with their chains stored away for another year.

One of the most hectic nights of the year was spent on the county highway system by cindering crews it was reported by Alfred Martin, county highway department superintendent.

Starts At 10 P.M.

"Calls started rolling in about 10 p.m. Wednesday for the services of cindering crews and in a short while available forces were on the job. Many of the men spent the night on the highways," Mr. Martin stated.

Route 422 east of the city was the most treacherous road of them all, the highway head reported. As soon as the road was well cindered the heavy traffic would push the abrasive material away and a new application had to be placed to make the road safe.

Disappearance Of Navy Plane Being Probed

President Says U.S. Is Conducting Thorough Probe

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS) President Truman said today the United States government is making a thorough investigation of the disappearance of a four-engine navy plane, with its crew of 10, over the Baltic sea last Saturday.

The Russian government has protested what it claims was a flight over Latvia territory by an American plane, in which there was an exchange of gunfire. Russia said the U. S. plane was driven out to sea by machine gun fire from Soviet fighters.

No Light As Yet

Mr. Truman was asked whether he could shed any light on the disappearance of the American aircraft.

He said he could not now. He said that a thorough investigation of the disappearance of the aircraft, as well as the charges made by the Soviet government, is now being made.

The president said that he was unable to make any comment until this government has gotten to the bottom of the matter.

Slaying Occurs Near Indiana, Pa.

The pretty young victim arrived at the Bellas home yesterday afternoon, and while awaiting for her fiance to return from work, told his mother, Mrs. Mary Bellas, that she loved Mike but that he doubted whether she was true to him.

Bomb Blast At Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 13.—(INS)—A dynamite bomb exploded early today on a window sill of Thayer hall on the Harvard university campus, injuring one student and frightening hundreds of other freshman occupants.

Robert Dobbie, 21, of Allentown, Pa., sleeping in the first floor room outside which the amateurishly constructed bomb went off, suffered facial lacerations from glass fragments.

Glass was blown in by the force of the explosion in 24 rooms.

Harvard yard police said whoever had planted the bomb had timed it so it would explode between shifts when there was virtually no police protection.

University authorities were inclined to blame a practical joker for the explosion and Dobbie himself said he could think of no one who would want to harm him.

Some students hinted that a recent series of clashes between undergraduates and non-collegians —town and gown affairs—in the Harvard square area might have been at the bottom of the bomb incident.

Negligence In Sanatorium Fire, Says Coroner's Jury

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 13.—(INS)—A coroner's jury has ruled that "negligence" existed at the Belle Vista sanatorium where 10 patients perished in a fire started by a pyrotechnic on March 29.

The six-man jury urged a further investigation in the fire at the Springfield township institution and recommended that the arsonist, Nicholas A. Verna, 28, be committed to an asylum.

Earlier, Judge Harold C. Knight ordered Verna committed to Farview State Hospital for the Insane after a mental examination disclosed Verna "is not responsible for his behavior."

Negligence Ruled

The jury ruled "negligence" after hearing these disclosures:

1. Four of the 10 who died were strapped to beds. Also strapped were 15 of the 82 patients who survived.

2. Doctors signed "restraint" orders giving a nurse authority to decide when some patients were to be tied down.

3. A previously convicted firebug who set the fire had keys to rooms and a closet, handled

First Mate Of German Ship Brings Report

Says Wreckage Sighted In Baltic On Last Sunday

(BULLETIN)

COPENHAGEN, April 13. —(INS)—The first mate of a German steamer reported today that he sighted in the Baltic sea on Sunday part of an aircraft cabin and other wreckage that may have come from the U. S. Navy Privateer patrol bomber missing with 10 men.

Search for the craft, believed the one alleged by Russia to have exchanged shots with Soviet fighter planes over Látvia, was extended immediately.

Sighting Wreckage Reported

Sighting of the wreckage was reported by Benhard Revens when the ship Juno put into Alfredshem in northern Sweden. He said no previous report could be made because the vessel has no radio transmitter, although the crew heard about the missing American plane on radio receivers.

Revens said that the flotsam was seen 90 nautical miles from Bornholm island, which lies off the southern tip of Sweden, and 10 miles north of the Oland Reef light house.

He said that the wreckage included what appeared to be parts of an airplane cabin six to 12 feet long and about four inches thick. Revens added that several damaged biscuit boxes from which gulls were feeding floated nearby.

Sighted On Sunday

(A Frankfurt dispatch, possibly dealing with the same incident, reported from Danish navy circles that debris was seen by the crew of a German ship but at a point 200 miles east of Bornholm, far closer to the Soviet-occupied areas of the Baltic coast.)

The wreckage was said to have been sighted about 4 p. m. local time on Sunday, 10 a. m. EST). This was about 19 hours after the along with other streets and roads. The snow froze a hard surface and then additional snow on top of the ice really made a bad traveling surface.

revealed this morning that barring adverse weather, the new structure on Route 18, New Wilmington road should be ready for occupancy in about a year or no later than June 1, 1951.

Dimensions Given

A spokesman for the architect stated that the frontage on the New Wilmington road side would be 159 foot which includes the Sunday school portion of the building. The overall dimensions of the building without the Sunday school rooms which may be erected at a later date, are 45 by 112 feet, it is learned.

The main auditorium of the church, including overflow capacity should comfortably seat 600 people. The church proper will embrace a choir room, minister's study, social rooms, coat rooms, rest rooms, and kitchen.

Immediately below the main auditorium, will be a large room 43 x 80 feet to be used for banquets and other assemblies.

When the Sunday school portion is erected this will add another assembly room, 43 by 48 feet.

The building proper is to be Gregorian type, brick and wood trim and is to be of fire resistant materials throughout. The structure is to be located on the five acre plot of ground, so as to provide ample space for outdoor athletics and other sports in which the members of the church will engage. Plenty of parking facilities will likewise be arranged to afford off-street arrangements.

Purchasing Agents Meet

Vice President Of District Speaker

Further impetus was given the newly formed Western Pennsylvania Purchasing Agents Association, at its dinner meeting in The Castleton, Wednesday evening.

E. Frank Strizzi, who is serving as president, outlined the progress which has been made to date, and stated that indications point to the fact that the organization will soon have its minimum quota of membership.

The nominating committee, consisting of Francis J. Baldauf, chairman, Nile Simpson and Robert Back, submitted the names of nominees for the various officers, and the election will take place at the May 10 meeting of the association.

Mr. Strizzi introduced Thomas D. Hudson, vice president of the Sixth district of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, who gave an inspirational talk on the advantages which accrue to members and the firms they represent by affiliation with the National Association.

Privateer last reported its position on course over the German city of Bremerhaven while on a routine flight from Wiesbaden to Copenhagen.

Revens said that about four hours previously, he heard the roar of an unidentified plane but there was no indication of any connection between this and the wreckage itself. Other members of the crew corroborated Revens' statement.

First Clue Eliminated

Meanwhile, it was learned that a yellow box picked up by an Danish minesweeper after it was sighted by a search plane and first thought to be a liferaft, was of Polish origin.

It bore Polish identification marks, plus a hammer and sickle and a partially obliterated name, the first word of which was "General."

The search continued relentlessly, although poor visibility prevailed in some areas. At other places, however, visibility was up to eight to 10 miles, with a 3,000 to 8,000 foot ceiling.

At least 18 American planes, along with Danish and Swedish rescue craft, are scouring a vast area of the Baltic from Schleswig-Holstein in the south to Stockholm in the north. Planes yesterday put in a total of 161 search hours and covered an area of 55 thousand square miles.

Two Danish Catalina flying boats and two mine-sweepers are standing by to rush to any point where the search planes might report survivors.

SENATE DEMANDS MOUNT FOR ARMING U.S. MILITARY PLANES

ing on a training flight from Weisbaden to Copenhagen.

'Should Be Armed'

Russell expressed surprise that the plane was unarmed. He said: "Every type of plane that would be armed in wartime should be armed now. In this atomic age you cannot take chances."

Russell declared that bombers and fighters based in Germany in particuler should be fully equipped to defend themselves.

Bridges demanded that U. S. military planes "be armed to the teeth."

Both Russell and Bridges are members of the Senate Armed Services committee. Senatorial sources said they have been informed that "high officials" at the Pentagon also favor arming military planes but would prefer to have Congress take the initiative.

Senate Armed Services Chairman Tydings (D) Md., said, however, that his committee will not go into the issue until all the facts of the case have been established.

Plane Disappeared

Russia in a strong protest, claimed that a U. S. plane flying over Latvia shot at Soviet fighters. Moscow said its airmen returned the fire. It said the U. S. plane then disappeared over the Baltic Sea.

U. S. defense officials were described by aides as being increasingly anxious to find any survivors of the tragedy.

They were said to be convinced the plane was a navy privateer patrol bomber which was on a training flight from Weisbaden to Copenhagen. They said this is the only U. S. Plane missing.

Search for the plane will be renewed today, spurred by reports of liferafts and wreckage sighted on the storm-swept Baltic.

U. S. officials questioned that the plane actually was over Latvia when Soviet airmen opened fire.

Location Off Course

They pointed out that the location claimed by Russia is 350 miles off the course. They said the plane, a 1944 model, would have had to fly above normal speed to have gotten so far off the air route to Copenhagen.

The hunt for the plane evoked what the State department termed a mild protest from Sweden that one of the U. S. search planes flew over a Swedish naval installation.

The Swedish government was said not to have planned a protest but finally gave in to Communist demands it be made.

Russell termed the Soviet protest a part of Moscow's propaganda. In commenting on the promptness with which it was lodged, the senator declared Moscow wanted to protest for "propaganda reasons before we learned through neutral sources just what happened."

Tyrone Power Escapes Plane Crash Injury In Philippines

MANILA, April 13—(INS)—Actor Tyrone Power, Director Fritz Lang and other American movie workers escaped injury today when a Philippine Air Force plane crashed into Subic Bay less than 50 yards from the group during the filming of a motion picture.

The Filipino pilot and co-pilot of the plane were seriously injured, but were expected to live.

The crash occured during the filming of a simulated attack by five planes on a PT boat in Subic Bay.

The Hollywood group is making a movie based on wartime American guerilla resistance to the Japanese occupation. Power is starred in the film.

matches and was allowed to go home week-ends.

4. It took firemen 20 to 25 minutes to hack their way through mesh-barred windows to reach patients trapped in four small cubicles.

Four Suffocated

Mrs. Laura Oliver, Belle Vista chief nurse, testified that four restrained patients suffocated.

She admitted that in some cases the decision to restrain a patient was left to her.

Joseph Marrow, day attendant, testified that on the day of the fire he gave Verna three keys to open rooms where the arsonist was assigned to cleaning tasks.

"I forgot to ask for them back," Marrow told the jury.

Mrs. Oliver said she did not know how Verna came to possess matches, but earlier testimony revealed that one of Verna's jobs was lighting cigarets for other patients. He retrained some of the matches given him for the job, witnesses said.

High pressure steam has been produced hot enough to light a cigaret.

PRESIDENT OF CHILE MAKING VISIT TO U.S.

of a glittering gathering of the entourages of both presidents:

"The solidarity of the Western Hemisphere is absolutely essential to the peace of the world.

Contribution To Peace

"I think the treaties of Rio de Janeiro and Bogota implemented the policy in the Western Hemisphere which we expected to follow completely to its logical conclusion, hoping always that that will be a contribution to the peace of the world.

"We have absolutely reversed our early policy by alliances with European countries hoping to maintain peace in the world.

"As the president knows, we have no aggressive intentions, we are not imperialists.

"We want to be good neighbors to our sister republics in the Western Hemisphere and we want to be helpful to other democratic countries in the world to attain a peace, and to maintain that peace."

Response By Videla

Responding, President Gonzalez Videla said:

"For my part I repeat that the policy of Chile and its government is one of friendship and solidarity with the United States, on a basis of equal sovereignty.

"On the American continent there are no imperialistic nations, nor satellites.

"There are free nations, which direct their own destinies and which act internationally and in conformity with a voluntary system, in the management of their common interests, as expressed in the pacts of Rio and Bogota."

New York City Has Mid-April Snow Storm

NEW YORK, April 13.—(INS)—Snowflakes the size of half-dollars fell on New York today in a mid-April storm but the weather bureau refused to lose composure.

The weather bureau predicted that it would change to rain.

No one knows the last time snow fell on Gotham on April 13. However, a ten-inch storm was recorded for April 3-4, 1915.

A slight flurry on May 6, 1891, is the latest arriving snow on record for the city.

Waitress Is Shot Down On Street By San Diego Woman

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 13.—(INS)—The wife of a wealthy San Diego produce dealer, who screamed "Sure I did it," was held on suspicion of murder today in the death of a waitress shot on a street corner.

Mrs. Margaret Pozner, 38, confessed the fatal shooting of Mrs. Verna Simmons, 31, who was killed last night in front of the cocktail lounge where she worked.

According to police, Mrs. Simmons was driven to work by Harry Pozner, wealthy San Diegan. They said Mrs. Pozner was waiting for the woman when she stepped out of Pozner's car.

Mrs. Pozner told police she approached Mrs. Simmons and fired at her with a .25 caliber automatic. The shot pierced Mrs. Simmons' head. She died instantly.

IS OUR ECONOMY HEALTHY?

Maybe we had better take another look at the comfortable assumption, which more and more people have been accepting lately, that the American economy is on a high plateau and is likely to stay there for a long time. It could be that the basis for this view isn't as stable as we think.

That is, Dr. Edwin G. Nourse may be right in believing that the nation is riding smoothly along on an "unhealthy" prosperity. He backs up his warning with what sounds like a well-reasoned argument. At least we ought to weigh his thesis, giving full credit to the fact that he has proved his devotion to the public interest—both by accepting duty as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and by resigning when he felt that his colleagues were offering questionable guidance on economic matters.

Dr. Nourse is concerned because the country has abandoned the salutary process of disinflation that was in full swing last year and is now "staying fat on stolen sweets or reserves drained from the future." He cites three factors behind what he calls a "propped-up" prosperity and declares that they are preventing the postwar readjustment necessary to get the economy on a firm foundation.

The resumption of deficit government financing on a big scale is only one of those factors, though a major one. Another is the "almost frantic political effort to raise agricultural supports in order to bolster the abnormally high level of farm prices." The third is organized labor's drive for more concessions and industry's effort to maintain its position.

Taken together, these three could bring a boom and a bust—though Dr. Nourse is not making any predictions because it isn't possible to forecast "what 150 million people in all stages of economic literacy and illiteracy will do." He is worried because the people, through their government, are making choices that could lead to economic catastrophe. He knows that if we keep on as we have been going we are in for trouble sooner or later.

DILEMMA FOR CONGRESSMEN

Members of congress who have hard fights for renomination in the primaries, are facing a dilemma. Should he spend much time campaigning back home and thus neglect his duties in Washington? Or should he keep his nose to the congressional grindstone and thus give his constituents fewer chances to hear him expound his views?

In Florida (primary on May 2) Rep. Smathers has been actively fighting Sen. Pepper for the Democratic Senatorial nomination. Smathers is listed as Not Voting on 40 of the 55 Yea and Nay votes taken in the house this year up to April 6, Pepper on 41 of the 75 Yea and Nay votes in the senate. (Occasionally a member who is present is recorded as Not Voting because he is paired with a member who is absent).

In California Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas is out for the Democratic nomination for senator; she did not vote on 24 of the 55 House Yea and Nay votes in 1950 up to April 6. Rep. Nixon of California, who has no serious opposition for the Republican Senatorial nomination (he has filed also for the Democratic), missed 14 of the 55.

Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., has been under some criticism for alleged absenteeism, but he voted on 47 of the 55 roll-calls this year. And Rep. Marcantonio of New York sticks close to his congressional knitting, such as it is; he voted on 48 of the 55.

CONFUSION ON CHINA

It seems hardly necessary to conduct a survey to determine that the people find government policy on China confusing.

The Council on Foreign Relations, in New York, apparently wanting to be on solid ground, did conduct a survey on the subject. Its basic conclusion after questioning 720 selected persons, described as intelligent and well informed, was that the citizens are confused by the China policy.

Most were willing to admit, however, that they didn't know what might have been done that was not done.

The Council also sought to pin down the subjects of its survey on what should now be the policy of the United States toward China. There was not much success in this interrogation, except that there was a predominant opinion among those questioned that some sort of acceptable official contact should be established with the Communist regime in China.

The United States, it was thought, should take the initiative in trying to find a basis of mutual tolerance. The next question is: "How?" Like the question of what should have been done, this one seems to have no answer.

A fashion magazine says derbies are coming back in style. Has the editor tried to get into an automobile recently?

To make a 100-mile event more attractive to the bargain-minded fair sex, the man at the next desk suggests the distance be cut to 99¾.

H-Hour of D-Day for the spring housecleaning campaign approaches. And once again it looks as though the home forces will do a complete mopping up.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Believes Nations Can Band Together

An object lesson in determined persistence in pursuit of a high ideal was presented today by Count Sforza, the foreign minister of Italy, who remains convinced despite all setbacks that the nations of Europe can band together for peace and progress.

Count Sforza has returned to Rome, apparently not too greatly dismayed by the cool reception accorded by Yugoslavia to his recent speech in Milan calling for solution of the Trieste problem.

He is imbued with the grand idea, shared by a number of leading Europeans although not acted upon to any degree, that limitless prosperity lies just beyond the elimination of customs barriers. Sforza favors a vast network of free trade among nations which have fought one another on battlefields in the past and always have practiced intense economic rivalry.

Use Benelux Nations

He wants to use the Benelux nations—Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—for the basis and pattern of a series of interlocking agreements wiping out currency restrictions and regulations which long have blocked unfettered trade in Europe.

Sforza's theory is uncontestably simple. He simply maintains that all the wealth needed to eliminate the fear and threat of war is locked inside the tightly sealed boundaries of European nations.

It is true, in the opinion of economists and international observers, that a fair division of resources could solve an untold number of problems.

What one country lacks, another has in abundance. But instead of there being some central international body to decide upon apportionment—to plug a vital gap with guarantees that the contributing nation would not lose out—there is nothing of the sort whatever.

The Council of Europe, with its infrequent though hopeful meetings at Strasbourg, has such a concept high upon its agenda.

It seems quite likely, however, that some sort of goal may be achieved through the medium of the more realistic North Atlantic defense organization.

Pool Resources?

That is founded upon the hard if unpleasant knowledge that another world war may threaten at any time and that to ensure their own defense, the European nations must accustom themselves to the principle of pooling resources.

Faced with any outbreak of hostilities, the Europeans presumably will be glad to do so as a mere measure of self-protection.

As a peacetime undertaking, however, it is a little more difficult to put across. Paul C. Hoffman, ECA administrator, is the best judge of this. For weeks he has been calling upon European economic and political leaders to get together on a "help each other" arrangement, but little progress has been made.

A few serious war alarms, however, may shake western Europe loose from equanimity on this score.

As unfortunate as it may be in other respects, the incident allegedly involving a United States military plane and Soviet craft over Latvian territory may have a salutary effect.

The people of Europe know from experience how a single isolated incident that seems inexplicable at the time may set off a whole chain reaction of after effects.

Changes Develop

It is notoriously true that the people of Europe will look to each other in a brotherly way when things are going badly and are prone to revert to an ingrained nationalism when the sun is shining.

In speaking at Milan, Sforza said that with proper cooperation western Europe could have the prosperity of America and the resources of Soviet Russia immediately at its disposal.

This may have been something of an overstatement. The unity that has made the 48 states of the United States one single cooperative organization was attained through years of effort and experimentation.

That which prevails in Soviet Russia was the product of intensive bolshevism, bloody purges and severest restrictions on personal liberties.

Fundamentally, however, Count Sforza's program appears to have everything in its favor if driven home with sufficient impact. He has devoted himself to this task and Winston Churchill and others are spending all the time and effort they can toward the same end. The objective cannot be gained speedily. That is obvious. But it at least is an objective—something generally lacking in the international councils of Europe as a whole.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FATHER-SON RELATIONSHIPS

The average boy on the farm can spend more time with his father than the urban boy can spend with his.

Usually the preschool child on the farm eats three meals a day with his father. Besides, this young child may toddle on his father's heels watching the father doing things outside the house, about the barn, even in the field. Very early this tot enjoys helping his father in many ways. See the opportunity he has to talk to his father and ask him questions and hear the father's answers; opportunity for companionship with the father. It's when the son approaches his 'teens and learns to do all sorts of things about the farm the father does and works about the barn and in the fields with his father, hour after hour, day after day, that the father-son companionship would seem to have the richest development.

How fortunate for both the father and his growing son on the farm when his father is aware of the rare privileges he has to mingle with this growing young person so constantly! Yet we have no way of knowing what proportion of farm fathers really are aware of what they can mean to their sons.

On A Farm

You and I have seen some wonderful father-son relationships in various walks of life. Having grown up on a farm myself and spent my boyhood days there and having observed many farm families since, especially in more recent years, I have been happy to see many instances of fine father-son relationships on the farm (as well as elsewhere). For example, the neighbor farm family near whom we now live have two boys ten and twelve. These boys and their father on their dairy farm strike me as having as nearly ideal companionship as any I have ever seen. There are also like relationships among their whole family. The parents never have seemed to have any discipline problems with these boys. They all seem to be growing up a happy family together. (My bulletin, "Fathers Are Parents, Too," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.)

Being together more or less constantly and doing many things together should be favorable for cultivating companionship between father and son. Yet this constant being together and working together doesn't necessarily guarantee companionable relationships. Ideal relationships require ideal attitudes by each toward the other.

Chief Responsibility

In the case of father-son relationship the chief responsibility rests with the father, rests on his understanding and appreciation of the son as a growing person and on his skill at proving such understanding and appreciation, as he with the mother, guides this growing son wisely.

No matter where we fathers live and no matter how fine our relationships with our children, particularly with our sons, we all could improve these relationships, no doubt. But it seems to me that because of the nature of farm life, a father on the farm is in a favorable position to grow as a very companionable dad to his son. The rural church, grange, other farm organizations and sources of special farm literature might widen their human service by helping more young fathers on the farm to see the richness of opportunity for living more abundantly with their growing sons. Blessed is the son who esteems his father and enjoys close companionship with him.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

Have you had your census taken? It was amusing to read the other day about the great turn over that some cities were having in the employment of census takers . . . When this census business started . . . hundreds and hundreds of people in every community wanted to be census workers. Long lines were formed and the district heads of the census taking were kept busy interviewing . . . accepting and rejecting. When the actual business started and the qualified workers started out on their tours . . . complaints started to roll in . . . not from the general public . . . but from the census takers themselves.

Ha . . . what was the trouble? It is simple . . . it wasn't the gravy train that some thought it would be. Taking a census is a backbreaking chore . . . well may be that's the wrong word (backbreaking) maybe it should be archbreaking. Many steps to walk . . . especially in apartment buildings. Here in New Castle that isn't too tough. And the heartaches that a census taker sees . . . sometimes too much for the individual to take.

You wouldn't believe it . . . but there are living conditions right here in this community that would make many of you sick to just look at . . . let alone go into and ask questions. Yes, when we saw the conditions we asked the same question you are probably turning over in your mind. Why doesn't someone do something to correct these conditions. Well now, there are people and organizations attempting to do something . . . laws or ordinances can't do the entire job.

Briefly here is one case . . . Man and Wife and six children . . . man works steady . . . makes fair wages. Wife and children poorly clothed . . . home in filthy condition . . . Man well dressed but finds that it's much more fun to treat the boys at the "mill" than dress his family. When help is offered by individuals . . . they are told to mind their own business. The situation is heartbreaking, especially concerning the children . . . In large communities this same situation is found in great numbers . . . But how can the conditions be cleared up? Do you have the answer?

GANG BUSTERS

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

'Congressional Immunity'

WASHINGTON, April 13 — The damage suffered by individuals who fall victim to reckless and irresponsible behavior done under the cloak of congressional immunity is immediately apparent. The damage to our institutions is not so apparent.

But it is nonetheless real and it raises some disturbing questions about what has been happening during recent weeks as a result of Senator McCarthy's indiscriminate charges. Several of the injured individuals have challenged the Senator to say without the protection of his congressional immunity what he has said under that privilege. While seeming to meet this challenge, he has in fact evaded it.

They would sue him for libel or slander if he made the same charge without immunity. It is fairly clear that such a suit could be sustained if witness could be found who would swear that Senator McCarthy repeated privately off the floor what he rad said under privilege.

Throws Some Light

I had an experience which throws some light on this. Former Senator Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania charged on the floor of the Senate that I had been paid by a large oil company for writing a story about oil deals in Mexico involving Guffey and John L. Lewis. I learned he had said the same thing to reporters off the floor and I brought suit for slander. After a number of depositions had been taken, Guffey officially apologized on the Senate floor. There was no claim of immunity.

No one can question the right of a legislator to say what he pleases with immunity from prosecution for his remarks. This goes back to the mists of parliamentary history and it has been repeatedly sustained by the courts.

In his "commentaries on the constitution" the distinguished American jurist, Joseph Story, held that while the legislator was privileged to make the speech, publication of it would subject him to a charge of libel. Story wrote:

Should Not Have Right

"No man ought to have the right to defame others under the color of a performance of the duties of his office. And if he does so in the actual discharge of his duties in the Congress, that furnished no reason why he should be able, through the medium of the press, to destroy the reputation and invade the repose of other citizens. It is neither within the scope of his duty nor in the futherance of public rights or public policy. Every citizen has as good a right to be protected by the law from malignant scandal and false charges and defamatory imputations as a member of Congress has to utter them in his seat. If it were otherwise, a man's character might be taken away without the possibility of redress, either by the malice or indiscretion or overweening self-conceit of a member of Congress."

Later decisions of the courts altered this construction. Bona fide publication was held to be immune from the charge of libel or slander. But, plainly, the responsibility of the legislator was to be assumed as the following from the decision of a federal court in Washington expresses it:

"Presumably legislators will be restrained in the exercise of such a privilege by the responsibilities of their office. Moreover, in the event of their failure in that regard they will be subject to discipline by their colleagues."

Senate Damaged?

There are many, including some Senators themselves, who believe the Senate has suffered damage from the McCarthy affair. This includes Republicans who have disassociated themselves from the McCarthy attacks.

Under the constitution the Senate and the House have the authority to make their own rules. This includes the right to expel a member for improper behavior by a two-thirds vote.

Improper behavior has been taken to mean a crime of the first magnitude, such as treason or some act of moral turpitude. In recent years two members of the Senate were expelled, but they were expelled for acts of fraud committed in their election campaigns. Although they had been

HAIR APPOINTMENT

Young man when you are married for your wife you'll often wait.
But for a hair appointment she won't be one minute late.
Don't ever get the notion you have powers that can persuade Your partner to forget it once a hair appointment's made.

Invite her down for luncheon.
"Not today," she will reply,
"I am going to have a hair-do and it takes an hour to dry
And another hour to set it. I don't like to tell you this,
A hair appointment's one thing that I really mustn't miss."

No bridge game; no canasta on that most important day;
No shopping trip; no luncheon and, of course, no matinee.
You will learn it when you're married, be she either well or ill,
If she has a hair appointment keep that date she surely will.

Folks Of Fame

Rex Ingram was born in Dublin, Ireland, in 1892; educated at St. Columbia's college, Trinity college, Dublin and Yale. He studied sculpture, went on the stage and into pantomime abroad. His first job in movies was as a scenarist, then he wrote and directed Chalice of Sorrow. His fame dates from his direction of the picture, Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, which introduced Rudolph Valentino to the fans. His wife became his leading lady in such pictures as The Conquering Power, The Arab, Mare Nostrum, The Magician, The Garden of Allah, etc. Later, after a row with movie moguls, he and his wife went abroad and have lived there ever since.

Madame Jeanne de Pompadour was born in Paris Dec. 29, 1721. In her childhood an old woman prophesied that she would one day associate with royalty, and be a power in the land. She married and became a queen of fashion. Then she met the king who was immediately charmed with her. She gave up her husband and became mistress of a great estate bought by the king. Hardly established in power, she began to mix in politics. She courted literary men and corresponded with generals of the army. She made herself indispensable to the king, but died April 15 1764, at the age of 42

Forecasting League Winners

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

One of the unwritten rules of the Baseball Writers' Association of America is that to hold their cards members must make public their selections in both the American and National Leagues not later than a week after the season opens.

That word "public" is the joker in the deck. Judging by the scarcity of experts who come up with the winners each year, it might not be a bad idea to change the unwritten rule and make it okay for members to announce their selections in the privacy of their boudoirs, or send them to sea in ketchup bottles, or include them in their wills.

No Way To Make Selection

Truth is, there isn't any way to select accurately the major league winners, the runners-up, and so on down the line until one pulls up at Washington and the Cubs. A fellow can tear himself away from New York in the winter, make the miserable trip to Florida, California and Arizona with the ball clubs, and still come up empty-handed insofar as knowing how the teams will behave when they get out of the citrus circuit and start playing for keeps.

During my years as a baseball writer I must have worn out half the shady spots in Florida quizzing every one from managers to batboy, yet I don't recall having picked the major league winners but one year—and that was the year I refused to tear myself away from the enchanting slush and cold of New York to undergo the rigors of a tropic clime with the ball players.

Winner Picked By Woman

And I didn't pick the winner that year, if I must be honest.

It was done for me by one of the loveliest ladies in the United States, and one of the great authorities on baseball.

The lady is Miss Ethel Barrymore, and if you don't think she knows her baseball just talk about it with her sometime. I am quite sure she could manage a club better than some of the managers I have known.

I tried to reach Miss Barrymore by telephone yesterday, but couldn't locate her. For some reason or other I have found that collect calls to California go through much slower than the other kind. Maybe it's my imagination, but it seems that way, anyhow.

Not being able to reach Miss Barrymore, I suppose I'll have to make my own selections. It's a shame to do this to a bunch of nice family newspapers, but I don't see any way out.

In the American League I like Boston. I like Boston because it seems to me that it is about time Manager Joe McCarthy had a good year. His team has been having good years right along, but not Marse Joe. I figure his number will come up in 1950. You can't keep a good Irishman down forever.

Lean Toward Brooklyn

In the National League, or loop, I lean toward Brooklyn. Lean all the way against them, in fact. My preference here is based on the fact that Brooklyn has the best baseball team in the loop, or League, and should run away with the pennant, or gonfalon, or bunting. I would like to be able to choose St. Louis over the Brooks, if only because Mr. Rickey heads the Brooks, but to many of the Cards have reached the age where they are just around the corner from bing fitted for hearing aids and congress gaiters to make them a good risk.

As for who finishes second, third, fourth, fifth, sith, seventh and eighth in the Leagues, who cares.

You say you do?

Okay, go ahead and pick the other finishers then.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It seems that almost everybody who knows that love rhymes with dove, blue with you, rose with nose, and shine with mine, sits down and writes a so-called poem sooner or later.

I get about one a day in my mail —mostly from women who express their suppressed desires or their frustations in rhyme.

When I politely explain to them that there isn't enough room in this column for all the poetry sent in, I often get letters telling me that I have no soul.

However, today I received something that struck me.

It comes from a man down in the heart of North Carolina.

It is crudely scribbled in pencil. The spelling is terrible. As a poem it is pretty bad.

But there is something in it which made me sit up and take notice.

We are all shocked by the ever increasing plague of Communism that is spreading over our nation.

"Why," we ask ourselves "can such a disease which we associate with poverty, discontent and unrest, infest our prosperous, healthy and happy country?"

That contribution from North Carolina seemed to give at least a partial answer.

I don't say the fellow is right. But here he is, in a small rural community, where people have time and are compelled to think things out for themselves.

Big city people sometimes call them "hicks from the sticks." What a mistake! The people make and unmake governments. They use their brains to think. They are America.

I wonder how much of this real America feels like that fellow from North Carolina who sent me this "poem":

"Our ship of state
In latter years
Has oft been near
The vale of tears.

With leaders not the least courageous
And man in high places
Guilty of acts outrageous,

It seems we're always in the midst
Of some mighty learned discussion
Yet still our leaders seem to shy
From all things Russian.

Are we then afraid to use our big stick
To throw it in their face
And dare them use what power they have
To their own ultimate disgrace?

I know I shan't be honored
If I should clearly state
That cowards walk those hallowed halls
And lead us to our fate.

Our ship of state with anchor dragging
I shall foresake for my own red wagon
And 'though I may be called a fool
Alike by foe and friend,
I shall lead my bitter life
To its most bitter end."

I told you it wasn't much of a poem. Yet it's as good as many "poems" Gertrude Stein wrote. But it certainly has meat in it!

I wonder how many others are climbing on their "own red wagon" without writing poetry about it!

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

(By International News Service)

Russia's complaint of an American plane flying over Latvia is well grounded in international law. In fact it's too bad Latvia didn't complain when the first Russian plane flew over.

But any plane of ours that got 13 miles into Latvia wouldn't be half as far in as the Reds have gotten in here without wiggling their wings.

The Russians don't say in their note whether they're sorest because a B-29 flew over or because their gunners missed it.

But Russia was pretty surprised to find one of our planes turning up this late. They thought all the lend-lease shipments had been completed.

Of course protocol says that a military plane must have permission to fly over the territory of another power. Unless it happens to be Pearl Harbor.

The pilot evidently misinterpreted an invitation which reads "come to the USSR. Now!". This is meant only for heads of Marshal-Plan-states.

Smith Bros. In New Location

Leather Goods Store On N. Mill Street

One of the oldest leather goods stores in western Pennsylvania, SMITH BROS., successors to W. J. Brennaman's, which has been located at the same site at 221 South Croton avenue, New Castle, for 58 years, is moving to a new location at 114 North Mill street, where they will be open for business on and after April 15.

The shop was devoted exclusively to the harness business until 1910, when the gradual passing of the horse in this district, forced its founder to add other lines, but he still stuck to the leather goods business.

A luggage department was added, which is now one of the features of the establishment, along with the repair of luggage of all kinds. Dog harness and kennel supplies are to be found, including all the leading brands of kennel rations. They also feature a complete line of upholstery supplies, sponge rubber, spring units, tacks, twine, needles and leatherette.

When the automobile came to the front, supplanting Old Dobbin as a means of transportation, the shop went into the repair of automobile tops, re-upholstery work, and the handling of seat covers. Today, in addition to these, the firm handles tarpauline, truck covers and truck tops, as well as awnings, both for home and store, which are custom-made in the SMITH BROS. shop.

Heavy team harness, mine harness and farm harness is still a feature item with a complete sizing of horse, pony and buggy collars always in stock. All heavy team harness is still made by hand.

Belting of all kinds for industrial and farm use is handled.

The present proprietors, Deane E. Smith and Mendal M. Smith, are a progressive pair of young business men, and almost anything to be named in the leather goods line will be found in the store.

Besides the above mentioned departments, the firm handles a complete line of Meyers riding apparel, Colt-Cromwell boots, holsters, imported saddles and fine harness, and Houghton sulkies and carts.

They also have a well equipped repair department, where they make repairs to luggage, zippers, leather coats and jackets, artificial limbs, all kinds of braces, brief cases, side curtains, covers for heavy machinery, tarpaulins, binder wells.

In their new location at 114 North Mill street, they will be better able to carry on their expanding business in more commodius quarters, with better facilities for the display of their products.

Paul Revere Wants To Ride On Streets Of Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(INS)—Paul Revere wants to ride on the streets of the nation's capital, but the cops don't like the idea.

Paul proposes to traverse downtown F street, horse and all, to plug the merits of home rule for Washington, whose citizens have no vote. He is promoted by the Central Suffrage Conference.

Police Chief Robert J. Barrett "would very frankly like to recommend disapproval," but he is unsure of his legal grounds.

There is no law against horseback riding downtown, Barrett found, but Paul might disrupt traffic.

Anyway, Barrett passed the decision on to the corporation counsel's office for a legal decision.

PS. Barrett got the problem from the District of Columbia's three commissioners, who are appointed, not elected.

Greenbug Plague May Make Sweep Of Wheatfield Areas

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(INS)—Entomologists said today only the weather stands in the way of a devastating sweep of the greenbug plague in wheatfields from Nebraska to the Canadian border.

They said the plague already has destroyed millions of acres of wheat in Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle.

The Agriculture department called the infestation "one of the greatest" in modern times. It warned that if rain and warm weather does not come within the next two weeks millions more acres will be lost to drought and the hungry greenbug aphid.

Should the cold, dry spring continue, wheatfields from Nebraska to the Canadian border will be in danger, a spokesman said.

Dr. Frederick A. Fenton, of Oklahoma A. & M. college said wheat losses in Oklahoma due to the greenbug were 250,000 acres totally destroyed, and two million more acres heavily damaged.

Far Eastern Conference On Trade Planned

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—The United States indicated new concern today over the failure of foreign countries to earn more American dollars.

This situation is one which will concern the conference on Far Eastern trade and commerce to be held in Tokyo beginning April 17 among state and commerce department officials and U. S. diplomatic representatives throughout south and east Asia.

This five-day conference will have two major problems on its agenda. They are:

Major Problems

1. Restoring Japan's markets in the Far East, her normal outlet for her low cost products before the war. These have been cut down as a result of Communist victories in China. New outlets must be sought in other Asiatic countries.

2. Reviving three way trade among Japan, other Far Eastern countries and European nations.

The impediments presented by the dislocation of Far Eastern trade is regarded by top administration advisors as the most immediate handicap to balancing and providing more dollars for normal operations.

They recall that in pre-war times, while the U. S. always had a favorable balance of trade with Europe, and especially Britain, this dollar drain on those countries was offset by the fact that the Far East took in more dollars than it spent in the U. S.

Spent in European Markets

The dollars were spent in European markets, and thus offset the western deficit.

Aside from restoring this normal trade pattern, officials are also concerned over the increasing tendency to break the western world into two currency blocs—the dollar and sterling areas.

With the evident desire of Moscow to establish the ruble as a hard currency, this would thoroughly confuse international trade and possibly force a breakdown in eastern economy, a major objective of Russia in the cold war.

Officials are also considering means of meeting the dollar gap in trade with Latin-American countries. This problem is almost universal south of the border with only the coffee and oil producing nation in a comparatively sound position.

Senate Committee Approves Hoover Slot Machine Bill

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—The Senate Commerce committee Wednesday approved a bill to outlaw interstate shipment of slot machines and other gambling devices.

The measure would ban such shipments across state lines unless they are destined for a state where the governor has certified that the devices are legal.

Two committee members, Sens. Capehart (R) Ind., and McFarland (D) Ariz., announced the group's action after leaving a closed-door meeting.

The legislation was recommended by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover as part of the drive to combat organized crime across the country. It was forwarded to Congress by the Justice department along with a bill to ban the interstate transmission of gambling information.

The information bill is now before a Commerce subcommittee.

The bill approved today provides jail sentences of up to two years and fines of up to $5,000 for violations.

It requires manufacturers and dealers in gambling devices to file annually with the collector of internal revenue all information on sales and receivers of the equipment.

The measure also requires that every device be numbered individually to enable law enforcement officers to trace those found in illegal areas.

Today's action pointed up the concerted Senate drive to smash the operation of big-time crime syndicates and possible corruption of local governments.

Board Of Education In Pittsburgh Ponders Action On Teacher

PITTSBURGH, April 13.—(INS)—The board of education today debated whether to make the dismissal of Dorothy Albert, a Pittsburgh school teacher accused of being a Communist, permanent under the State Teacher Tenure Act.

The board took the case under advisement after a stormy five-hour hearing yesterday which followed the rejection by the United States Court of Appeals in Philadelphia of Miss Albert's plea that the meeting be postponed pending court action in Pittsburgh.

Board Chairman J. Roy Dickie said briefs filled by M. B. Lesher, the board attorney, and Hymen Schlesinger, Miss Albert's attorney, would be considered at a meeting scheduled for May 16.

Chief witness against Miss Albert at the meeting, which did not end until 10 p. m. last night, was Matt Cvetic, former undercover FBI agent.

He insisted that he had seen Miss Albert at numerous meetings attended by top Communist party policy makers, but under cross examination admitted that he did not know that every one who attended the meetings was a Communist.

"But to the best of my knowledge, they were," Cvetic added.

Another witness, George Deitze, also a former undercover agent for the FBI, testified that he had seen Miss Albert at Communist meetings in the company of William Albertson, Communist party secretary in western Pennsylvania, and several other party leaders.

But Deitze, too, admitted that he did not know specifically whether Miss Albert was a member of the Communist party.

Music Education Is Drummed Home

CHARDON, O.—(INS)—Chardon parents are having the fine distinctions between teaching methods literally drummed home to them—for art and science!

An important experiment in music education is being conducted in Chardon's public schools on the theory that rhythmic instruction would provide a better foundation than melodic training.

The results won't be known for eight years, according to LeRoy Reeves, music director of the city's schools, but they should be of importance to music teachers thruout the nation.

Fourth grade classes have been divided into two groups; one will continue its pre-band level training with such melodic instruments as the tonette and song flute, while the other concentrates on percussion instruments.

If dad is one of those intolerant individuals who believe that a drum can be a dangerous instrument in the hands of a child, junior will be able to do his homework on the wash basin or living room radiator. What price progress!

Dirksen Will Oppose Lucas In Illinois

CHICAGO, April 13. — (INS) — Nearly complete returns from the Illinois primary election made former Congressman Everett Dirksen the Republican candidate for United States senator in November.

Dirksen will oppose Democratic incumbent Scott W. Lucas, Senate majority leader who ran without opposition in yesterday's election. Dirksen defeated two other candidates in the G.O.P. race and his margin of victory was 3 to 1.

The election set the stage for Illinois to play a leading role for control of Congress in the November balloting.

Lucas will carry the banner of the Truman administration "Fair Deal" forces. President Truman himself will help launch the battle i a May 15 speech at the Chicago Stadium, climaxing a three-day gathering of party bigwigs from all parts of the nation.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders frankly admitted they are disturbed over the small turnout of voters in this year's primary.

The Cook county Democratic, patronage-loaded machine was able to record a vote of only 492,030 in Chicago. This total fell below the 522,000 ballots set for the Democrats by Cook County Chairman Jacob M. Arvey.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

J. P. McEvoy's favorite story concerns a man who played one note continuously on his one-string fiddle. When his wife, driven to distraction, complained that every other violinist she had heard used four strings and moved their fingers up and down, he replied loftily, "They're looking for the place, but I've found it."

A Tinpan Alleyite burst into the inner sanctum of a music publisher and cried, "Boss, I got a new song that's knock your eye out." The publisher pointed glumly to a patch over his left eye, and answered, "I already heard it!"

H. J. Higdon tells about a publisher who cautioned his credit man, "Your collection letter to those fellows in Birmingham is entirely too tough. Tone it down. Diplomacy is the ticket! For instance, don't underscore 'You crooks' more than once."

allowed to take their seats in the Senate, they had not participated in the Senate's business because of the suspected fraud.

As has been often said, the Senate has many of the attributes of a very exclusive club. The members jealously guard their rights and privileges. Some years ago the charge of homosexuality was imputed against one Senator and the ranks of his fellow members quickly closed round him in defense.

But the public in this instance is entitled at the very least to know the circumstances behind the outbreak. In particular, the influence of the Nationalist China lobby and its paid representatives should be brought to light. If reports of the lobby's role are even partly true, here is an extraordinary instance of the representatives, paid agents and advocates of a foreign power creating something close to chaos in the conduct of American foreign policy. And in the process harm has been done to the institutions of free government.

No Slow Down For Steel Industry Magazine Reports

NEW YORK, April 13.—(INS)—The magazine Iron Age said that there are still no signs of a slowing of demand in the steel industry.

It pointed out that past reluctance to make third quarter conversion commitments is melting fast, and interpreted this as forecasting a very health market.

The national metalworking weekly placed current steelmaking operations at 98 per cent of rated capacity, and said production is expected to remain at or near this level for several weeks.

A cautionary note was sounded by some sales executives who observed that part of the steel now being made is going into depleted inventories.

These leaders informed Iron Age that when these inventories are built up to desired levels there will be a drop in demand, even if industrial activity remains at current levels.

Meantime, the market for scrap prices continued firm. The Iron Age steel scrap composite price was unchanged this week at 28.83 per gross ton, the high for the year.

The magazine said that strength in scrap prices was expected to continue as long as the prospect held for a continued high rate of steelmaking.

Pollock P.T.A. Names Officers

Miss Grace McCabe Speaks At Meeting

Members of the Pollock Avenue Parent-Teachers' Association met Wednesday evening in the school library, with President Orlando Lucidore conducting business.

Following the officers reports, an election of new officers was held by the group. Orlando Lucidore was re-elected president; Mrs. Philomena DeFiore, vice president; Mrs. Madeline Gensanti, secretary; and Mrs. Mary Richards, treasurer.

Two delegates to City Council were chosen, consisting of Mrs. Mary Venditto and Miss Margaret Lowery. Peter Grittie, principal, gave a report on the successful school savings program.

Need Of Classes

Mr. Lucidore then introduced Miss Grace McCabe who spoke on "Special Education", being given to orthogenic backward children at her adjustment class in the Lincoln-Garfield school. Miss McCabe stressed the great need of educating the public to realize the importance of these classes in New Castle. A survey made recently showed that classes are needed for the exceptionally gifted children, as well as the backward. Few people realize that such classes exist in elementary and secondary schools.

With further explanation she stated, "One would not abuse a young child with any other illness or handicap, would they?" She answered her own question with "Of course not. Then why treat these children with a mental deficiency any differently than those with visible handicaps?"

To Aid Children

"Orthogenic backward classes are organized to keep children from becoming lost and confused in ordinary classes, and give them a chance to learn at their own rate of speed. It must be emphasized that no stigma is placed upon a child for being in the class. Instead the students have determination and show much effort in their work. Ordinarily, these children would be seated in the back of the room and nearly forgotten, but in the O.B. classes, they are happy because they are doing what they can do and like to do. They learn to use their hands and become skillful in some field of work."

Miss McCabe concluded by saying, "Much help can be given if pupils are placed in these classes at an early age. Many of the boys and girls leave the group and get splendid jobs. Above all, the children are polite, generous and understanding, and ready to fill their place in society."

Social Committee

A social committee for the May meeting was appointed and will consist of Mrs. Rose Roselli, chairlady, Miss Helen Ryan, Miss Agnes Shepp, John Matthews, George Komara, Thomas Palmer, Mrs. Chill and Mrs. Rose George.

Miss Pearl Hillard, teacher of the fourth grade, won the prize for her class having most parents represented.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hospitality committee composed of Mrs. Esther Esposito, chairlady, Mrs. Anthony Ginochi, Mrs. Mike Fornataro, Miss Pearl Hillard, Miss Margaret Lowery, Mrs. Francis Cassella, Miss Ruth Weir, Mrs. Mike Rozak, Mrs. Andy Tomello, and Miss Hazel Grossman.

A coffee urn was presented to the unit by Mrs. Philomena DeFiore and her committee.

Keep Lights Burning All Night!

NEW YORK, April 13.—(INS)—House-haunting is one of the world's oldest professions.

And if anyone wishes to haunt a house but feels himself unequal to the task, he can get a first class job by hiring the two orneriest han'ts on Broadway to do this work for him.

This pair of evil eye finkles nightly throws the audience at "the innocents" into ectoplastic fits with heavy overtones of traumatic terrors and conspires to make it "the most frightening play Broadway has seen in years."

Ever since I saw the play, a dramatization of Henry James' malevolent story "The Turn of the Screw," I have kept the lights burning in Chez Robb all night long, and doubled the electric bill.

In an effort to exorcise the ghosts and cut the H. C. of L., I went backstage at the playhouse threatre yesterday to commune with these two ghouls who persist in crawling out of their graves and scaring the daylights out of their public.

One of them, Andrew Duggan, turned out to be the biggest spook I have ever met on or off Broadway, and the other, Ella Playwin, is a pretty blonde who has haunted the theatre, but nothing else much, most of her short life.

Over All Competition

During a Broadway season that has boasted spectres in every third play, Mr. Duggan, six feet four inches in his sox, stands head and shoulders over all the competition.

"I think I got the part of Peter Quint (the evil valet who was murdered before the play opens) because I'm so tall," said Mr. Duggan, who is young and handsome enough to be a flesh-and-blood hero either on Broadway or in Hollywood.

"They wanted someone who would cast a big shadow, and I'm the guy."

The two phantoms materialize at eerie moments in the play, but they never speak. When Miss Playwin tried out for the part of the wicked governess, who committed suicide sometime prior to the opening of the play, she was told not to use her hands, voice or body in any way.

"I'd tried out for all sorts of parts in the past, but never as an apparition, so I said 'What can I use?'" the blonde ghost explained. "And the director said 'your eyes.'"

Then the director hastily added, "don't blink your eyes! Ghosts don't blink," a statement Miss Playwin takes for fact although she does not know where the director did his basic research.

For decades readers of "The Turn Of The Screw' and now audiences at "The Innocents" have been unable to agree whether James himself believed the ghosts to be real or merely figments in the imagination of Miss Giddens, the neurotic governess who tries to protect her charges, a young boy and girl, from the evil influence of the nasty ghosts who haunt their English home.

Ha'nts Don't Agree

Even the ha'nts themselves don't agree! Mr. Duggan believes in ghosts and thinks he's the real McCoy in "The Innocents." But Miss Playwin does not believe in astral bodies and is certain the ghosts are merely "the manifestation of evil."

Naturally, when audiences greet their muted appearances with cries, gasps, smothered shrieks and an occasional faint, Miss Playwin and Mr. Duggan take it as a tribute to their art. Whenever the theatre exudes the odor of smelling salts, they are as jubilant as a Hollywood player over an Oscar.

They love the theatre janitor who streaks into the playhouse, does his work on the double and streaks out again. "I've never seen 'em and I don't want to see 'em," he told Duggan one day.

"As a matter of fact," confessed Mr. Duggan, "I wouldn't want to be left alone in this theatre myself."

"You see, we even scare ourselves," added Miss Playwin.

They're the genuine, 22-carat double whammy, all right, and the lights stay on in Chez Robb again tonight!

The theme of the convention is "Build With Christ." Rev. McKinney is a delegate to the International C. E. Convention in London. He is well known locally and will give an inspirational message.

Another interesting feature of the evening will be special music led by Rev. Henry J. Payden, pastor of St. Paul's Baptist church, West North street. Devotions will be in charge of Jesse Joan McCracken and her society. Officers for the coming year will be elected, and installed. After the meeting, there will be a social time with refreshments for all in attendance.

JEHOVAH CALLS AMOS TO PROPHESY

HERDSMAN LEAVES FLOCKS TO WARN ISRAEL

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Amos.

"Seek Jehovah, and ye shall live." —Amos 5:6.

Years of prosperity in a country are not always times of high moral standards, sad to say. In fact, when people have plenty of money they are often inclined to pay more attention to worldly matters —taking trips to far places, buying luxuries, etc.—than to think of God and what He wishes us to do.

In Amos' time the Northern Kingdom was prosperous. The prosperity did not work for Israel's spiritual good, however. The older system of small proprietors had gone.

Large estates worked by serf or slave labor, prevailed, and the result was bad. The needs of the mass of the people were disregarded, and immorality and judicial corruption were prevalent.

The people had forgotten Jehovah who had led them from captivity into the Promised Land.

To Amos, a man who was a herdsman and tender of sycamore trees, who was close to nature, but also a nomad—a traveler to other lands, acquainted with many peoples, the situation was ripe for disaster.

Clearly Amos heard the voice of Jehovah calling him away from his flocks and trees, from his solitary life of meditation, to go to Bethel and warn his people of their danger. This was about the year 760 B. C.

Amos had no social reforms to offer. His job, as he saw it, was to call men back to the faith of their fathers. Men could find their only safety in moral and spiritual reforms.

God was essentially law, he declared: "For, lo, He that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought; that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth. Jehovah, the God of Hosts, is His name."

Again: "For thus saith Jehovah unto the house of Israel, Seek ye Me, and ye shall live."

"Seek good and not evil, that ye may live: and so the Lord, the God of Hosts, shall be with you, as ye have spoken."

To live happily, even little children can understand, is to live according to our best knowledge. Children are not happy and contented when they know they have done something wrong—when they are disagreeable, cruel to their playmates—at cross purposes with parents, brothers and sisters and others. They too can turn to God, the Father, and ask Him to help them to be what He would wish, and thus be joyful again, just as can their elders.

Now Amaziah, priest of Bethel, sent a message to Jeroboam, the king, to tell him that Amos had conspired against him (which was a lie) "in the midst of the house of Israel; the land is not able to bear his words, for thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall surely be led away captive out of their own land."

Apparently, King Jeroboam paid no attention to Amaziah's message (possibly he liked this prophet of disaster), so Amaziah spoke to Amos himself—and not too gently: "O, thou seer, go, flee thee away unto the land of Judah, and there eat bread, and prophesy: But prophesy not again any more at Bethel; for it is the king's chapel, and it is the king's court."

"Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I am no prophet, neither was I a prophet's son; but I was an herdsman, and a gatherer of sycamore fruit: And the Lord took me as I followed the flock, and the Lord said unto me, Go, prophesy unto My people Israel."

Amos told how God showed him a basket of summer fruit. "And He said, Amos, what seest thou: And I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then said the Lord unto me, the end is come upon My people of Israel; I will not again pass by them any more.

"And the songs of the temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: there shall be many dead bodies in every place; they shall cast them forth with silence."

With this sad prophecy we close this lesson. Our next two lessons, however, will be on this same book of Amos, and his words to his people.

Report Threats In Drive On N.Y. Gambling

NEW YORK, April 13.—(INS)—Brooklyn District Attorney Miles McDonald investigated reports that rookie policemen who are seeking evidence of tieups between police and gamblers have been the target of threats.

McDonald has been using 50 rookies to gather evidence in the Brooklyn gambling racket probe, on the assumption that neither gamblers nor the regular police know their faces or names.

But, it was reported, some of the rookies have been told:

"As far as your future in the police department is concerned, you are all washed up. You have been ratting on the police department.

"Don't forget, you'll be in the department longer than you'll be working for the D. A."

Threats Disclosed

The disclosure of the threats—from unidentified sources—came as McDonald began presenting the first evidence in his inquiry to the grand jury.

That at least some of the 50 rookies working for him are known to gamblers was confirmed when police found a list of the license numbers of their autos in a raid on a Brooklyn bookmaking establishment last Saturday.

Kings County Judge Louis Goldstein has scheduled a hearing for Monday on McDonald's request for a blue-ribbon jury to try three men indicted on charges of taking horse race and basketball bets from Brooklyn college students. It was the arrest of this trio that touched off the latest investigation.

People Controlled Government Is Asked

ERIE, Pa., April 13.—(INS)—Claude A. Putnam, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, called for a return to government that is closer to the people and more fully under their control in a speech last night in Erie.

He addressed the annual dinner of the Manufacturers Association of Erie.

Putnam said that the best government and the most alert citizenship result when the smallest unit of government is given full responsibility and adequate means to do so.

Evangelist Opens Campaign Here

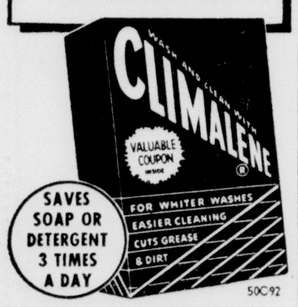

Evangelist T. L. Osborn opened his campaign in the dining room of the Cathedral Wednesday night with about 1200 in attendance.

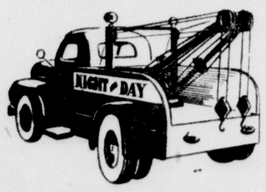

In the role of "faith healer" Mr. Osborn explained that he had no supernatural powers not given to other mortals but was merely following the word of God in healing by absolute faith upon Divine power.

A number of persons afflicted with ills presented themselves at the altar.

The services will continue nightly.

TWO MORE SLEEPS

An angler with somewhat of a local reputation for bringing home the bacon was asked about what lures he would recommend for trout on opening day.

"That's quite an order," he hesitantly replied. "You see," he continued, "we are really dealing with two kinds of trout, and I don't mean species."

The questioner was puzzled. "Then, what do you mean by two kinds of trout?"

"Well," explained the expert, "in the first place there are wild trout such as those that were hatched and reared in the stream, and that includes hatchery fish that were stocked last year or even before," he amended. "Then, there are those that were stocked a few weeks or even a few days ago."

"By that you mean that both won't take the same lures?"

"Oh, they may for the first day or so, but as their numbers are reduced and the newly stocked fish become lure-wise, then, the fisherman must exercise all the skill at his command in order to take fish." With that he plunged into an explanation of early season trouting. Here's the gist of it.

After the ice clears out of a stream and the water begins to warm up, wild trout are ravenously hungry and will take practically anything. During the winter most of the trout's natural food either bores down into the mud or crawls u ler rocks to hibernate. Some minnows remain active, but they too become scarce, so that a trout has pretty slim pickings. So, with the first appearance of food trout try to make up for lost time.

For the first few days of the season the streams will be jammed with fishermen who will resort to any kind of bait to corral a few trout for the pan. Accordingly, thousands of fish will be taken with worms, liver, rare beef and other gross braits. Now, it is not the objective of this piece to criticize anglers using such baits. However, we would like to point out that trout may be taken just as readily with artificial lures imitating those creeping insects emerging from the mud with the first warm days. Artificials designed to imitate the creepers include nymphs and various kinds of closely cropped hair and other flies. And these should be fished as closely to the bottom as possible.

Later on, say, a week or two later, when the streams are approaching normal levels and the water is somewhat cleared, wet fly fishermen will catch fish with hackles of various colors, the browns and the grays being the most effective. Other good early season flies in most local streams include, black gnat, gray gnat, dark Cahill, cowdung, iron blue dun, and black quill. Good hook sizes are 10, 12, and 14.

As a rule the more somberly colored wet flies are the best killers In Canadian, New York and New England waters the louder colors seem to be the creel fillers. Since most trout stories appearing in the magazines usually deal with fishing in the aforementioned places, it behooves one not to be misled by the lures used. In this part of the state trout are definitely conservative in their choice of colors. However, don't think that they won't some times fall for bright patterns, as did a good sized brown in the Neshannock, taking one of the most garishly colored flies in the book, a big parmachene belle. But, that's what makes fly fishing the fascinating sport that it is.

If you are a devotee of the night crawler, substitute the big boys with the small garden worms, say, not over three or four inches long. Furthermore, don't run fror pool to pool momentarily dunking the worm and then wondering where the fish are. Take your time, fish the likely spots slowly and methodically. Don't et panicky if someone beats you to a choice spot. Act like a veteran fisherman. And don't forget that it's fun to be alive and fishing even if you don't catch fish.

Memorial At Hyde Park, N. Y.

Mark Anniversary Of Roosevelt's Death

HYDE PARK, April 13.—(INS)—Franklin D. Roosevelt's old friends—people from every walk of life—gathered at the side of his flower-decked grave in Hyde Park Wednesday, the fifth anniversary of his death.

Memorial services, sponsored by the Franklin D. Roosevelt Foundation, were held in the quiet, sunlit garden besides the late president's home where he was laid to rest. The Rev. Gordon L. Kidd, of St. James Episcopal church officiated.

More than 500 persons attended the services.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who narrowly escaped injury in a three-car collision last night, was among the crowd gathered on the landscaped burial spot beside the Hudson river. The site was opened to the public in 1946 and has drawn an average of a half a million visitors a year since.

Others participating in the service included Myron C. Taylor, former envoy to the Vatican; industrialist Thomas J. Watson, William Green, head of the AFL, and Joseph Potofsky, president of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union.

Senate Committee Shelves Langer Bill

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—The Senate Commerce committee on Wednesday pigeonholed the Langer bill to ban interstate liquor advertising.

The action by a 6-to-3 vote shelves the bill in the committee instead of sending an "unfavorable" report to the floor.

Such an action kills a measure. It can be brought to the floor only by a vote to "discharge" the committee—a step which the Senate rarely takes.

The bill by Sen. Langer (R) N.D., would prohibit the use of the mails or other transportation of liquor advertising across state lines. It likewise would ban interstate transportation of any newspaper or magazine carrying liquor advertising.

K. Of C. Council Planning Event

Knights of Columbus Council members No. 512 held their meeting in the council rooms Wednesday evening wtih grand knight James T. Carey presiding.

Business was conducted with the announcement of a stag party for members on June 1. The exemplification of a second degree will be given sometime after June 1.

The major degree will be exemplified on Jnue 4 on the celebration of the council's golden anniversary to be held in the Cathedral.

After business, a local degree team conferred the first degree of the order on a group of candidates.

Benediction was given by the grand knight, which was followed by a buffet lunch served by the members. A social gathering was later enjoyed.

Catholic Vets To Meet Tonight

Commander Edward DeCarbo will preside at the meeting.

Charge Committee To Probe Crime Is Being Packed

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—Senate Republicans prepared today to blast plans for a special five-man crime probe, charging it is being packed with Democrats to avoid political repercussions.

Sen. Donnell (R) Mo., said he will lead a floor battle against changing the original crime probe resolution by Sen. Kefauver (D) Tenn., to set up the special five-member committee.

Donnell said he will fight instead for the original resolution which put the probe into the hands of a judiciary subcommittee. The new plan would set up a joint judiciary-commerce committee.

SOCIETY & Clubs

GARDEN COUNCIL HAS ENJOYABLE MEETING

An arrangement of yellow daffodils lent a gay springtime note to the table appointments when members of the Garden Council of Lawrence County met for luncheon in the Guild room of Trinity Episcopal church on Wednesday afternoon.

Members of the Harlansburg Garden club were the genial hostesses for the occasion. Pouring during the luncheon were Mrs. Richard S. Marquis, president of Garden Council, and Mrs. James Vogan, president of the Harlansburg club.

Immediately following luncheon the customary voting for flower arrangements and houseplants was conducted.

Several beautiful displays reminiscent of spring were brought to the meeting by the ladies. Winning honors for the flower arrangements were: first, Mrs. W. C. Hileman, Walmo Garden club; second, Mrs. Roland Peden, Oakwood Garden; third, Mrs. Wallace Wright, Oakwood Garden; fourth, Mrs. Roland Peden, Oakwood Garden; fifth, Mrs. T. G. Allen, Conservation and Garden department of Woman's club. Placing in the houseplant display were: first, Mrs. J. B. Kennedy, East Side Garden; second, Mrs. C. N. Bruce, Harlansburg Garden; third, Mrs. R. S. Marquis, Walmo Garden; fourth, Miss Anna Dietterle, East Side Garden; fifth, Mrs. Wallace Wright, Oakwood Garden.

Mrs. Marquis presided over the business meeting and special recognition to the fact that Mrs. James W. Moorehead, a member of Garden Council, has been accorded the honor of being voted first "Lady of New Castle" by the Pennsylvania Epsilon Gamma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Mrs. James W. Moorehead passed out the revised constitution and by-laws to representatives of each club. The present officers will continue in office until January, 1951.

It was announced during the meeting that the Garden club of Ohio will conduct a flower show school on May 2-3-4 at the Butler Art Gallery in Youngstown. Members of the garden clubs of Lawrence county are welcome to attend.

After the meeting, the ways and means committee of Garden Council together with the Harlansburg Garden club presented a special fund raising event for the benefit of Garden Council. In charge of this event was Mrs. C. N. Bruce, chairman of the ways and means committee. Her aides were Mrs. John Robinson and Mrs. Harold Cameron.

Major Alexander Speaks To Kiwanis On Defense Plans

Addressing members of the New Castle Kiwanis club, at their noon luncheon meeting, in The Castleton, Wednesday noon, Major Thomas L. Alexander, U. S. Army instructor with the 229th Field Artillery, told Kiwanians of the importance of the 229th Field Artillery and the local reserve units in the country's defense plans.

These organizations, the first line of defense in the event of an attack on this nation, merit the support of every citizen, he stated, and the civilian can help in the nation's defense plan by giving them every encouragement.

Besides the 229th units, there are four active army reserve units, two active naval units, and one marine unit here.

During World War Two, Major Alexander pointed out, the National Guard supplied thousands of officers to our armed forces, and they did a wonderful job. Some of them are still in the service."

In addition to being key units in the nation's defense plan, the National Guard is available in any emergency of a serious nature, or to help in law enforcement when it gets out of control of local officers.

Encouragement from the civilian population will do much to help the moral of the National Guard and reserve units, Major Alexander asked for manifestation of this support in connection with Armed Forces Day and Armed Forces Week starting May 20.

School Heads To Discuss New Tax Ruling Of State

HARRISBURG, April 13.—(INS)—Presidents of 14 State Teachers Colleges will meet May 19 at Harrisburg to determine policy under a Justice Department rule stating the institutions are not compelled to cooperate in collection of local admissions taxes on student functions.

Department of Public Instruction spokesmen indicated that college officials are anxious to work with local officials but are confused because of a legal problem resulting by the institutions being commonwealth property.

The ruling yesterday also advised Superintendent Francis B. Haas that teachers colleges are under "no legal duty or obligation" to allow municipal officials to use college grounds for collection of taxes.

However, the opinion emphasized that college authorities may comply with a request to permit agents of either the college or the local government to collect admissions taxes.

Stanley C. Fellows, counsel for the department, said that a request for the ruling was prompted by difficulty between officials of four state colleges and local government representatives.

The trouble started, fellows said, after the legislature passed the 1947 home rule tax law and local administrators attempted to levy admissions taxes on tickets to student activities at Clarion, Bloomsburg, Lock Haven and West Chester Teacher Colleges.

"The colleges wanted to be helpful because they deal with the local governments in so many ways," Fellows said. "However, they were confused as to procedure because money collected from sale of tickets technically goes into commonwealth coffers and is out of local jurisdiction."

Cold Weather Slows Early Farm Activity

HARRISBURG, April 13.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's spring planting and general farm activity has been restricted this season because of wet and cold weather, the state department of agriculture reported today.

Some oats, peas and a few potatoes have been planted in the southeastern section and some tobacco seeded. Most plowing has been done so far under infavorable conditions.

Winter damage was moderate and fruit growers are optimistic for a good year. Only barley and rye among the grains are not up to average, according to the department.

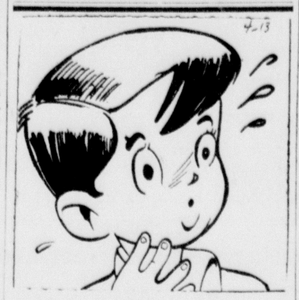

Although the winter was mild, farmers blame the unruly March weather for the setbacks, it was added.

CHURCH BURNS

CURRYVILLE, Pa., April 13.—(INS)—The Curryville church of the Bretheren, some 20 miles south of Altoona was destroyed by fire last night.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

How Much Excitement?

Have you ever watched very young children at the circus, a scary movie, or even in the halls of a museum? They're likely to be on edge, excited and upset. There's just too much to see and do. Older children can take more excitement, but for the youngsters under six or eight, it's a good idea to go a little slowly on complicated and spectacular things. A three ring circus is too stimulating; running from one exhibit case to the other in the museum or from cage to cage in the zoo is too tiring.

When planning trips with young children, every effort should be made to limit the amount of stimulation they will have. This doesn't mean that only boring, uninteresting things are appropriate, but that the amount of new experience, the intensity of the effects of the things they will see and hear should be limited. If going to the zoo, visit only a part of it. Cut the trip short before feet begin to lag and tempers get on the ragged edge.

Even jaunts to department stores can be over-stimulating and over-tiring. So can trips to the beach or to the country. The advice, "In all things, moderation," is especially appropriate when planning trips for children.

Five Policemen In Brooklyn Gambling House When Raided

NEW YORK, April 13.—(INS)—The story of what five policemen were doing at a Brooklyn gambling headquarters when it was knocked off by District Attorney's raiders will be told to a special grand jury Monday.

The grand jury is investigating rackets and suspected rackets protection by Brooklyn policemen.

Kings County District Attorney Miles McDonald confirmed yesterday that a lieutenant and four other policemen were found at the gambling place in the raid Saturday afternoon.

The raiders also seized several thousand dollars in cash and written data indicating police payoffs.

McDonald was asked by newsmen:

"Is it true that these police officers were caught in the act of being paid off?

McDonald answered:

"I will not comment on that. But I will say that there were police at the premises when the raid occured."

Government To Get Large Share Of 'Flour Sack' Fortune

ATLANTA, April 13.—(INS)—A 50-year-old Atlanta woman who said she "scrimped and saved" all her life is tearfully angry over news that the federal government wants to take more than $50,000 of the $65,000 she kept in a flour sack.

Mrs. Elizabeth Spear lugged the flour sack of coins and currency to police headquarters when she was arrested on charges of selling whiskey illegally.

Police counted money for four hours to give the woman a receipt for it was personal property being held while she was confined.

Deputy U. S. Income tax collector Charles H Dunn, hearing of the hoard, filed a 1949 tax lien in Fulton superior court.

When Mrs. Spear was released on bond, a federal writ directed Police Chief Herbert Jenkins to hold $50,587.94 of her money until further notice.

Mrs. Spear, who said she does not trust banks, declared she had made her money honestly, "mostly through pinball and jukebox machines."

She added:

"A person works hard all their life, scrimps and saves, and then when you get old, they try to take it away from you."

Southern Democrats Hail Postponement Of Employment Bill

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(INS)—Southern Democrats hailed a new postponement of a Senate fight over the Fair Employment Practices Bill, which one of them predicted will never be passed at this session.

A G.O.P. advocate of the civil rights measure—Sen. Morse, Ore., said he agreed to the postponement but warned that more delay would make it easy for the Senate to sidetrack the disputed bill at this session.

The Senate Democratic Policy committee, acting upon advice from President Truman, decided to put the three billion dollar foreign aid bill ahead of the FEPC fight.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas, Illinois, in announcing the decision, said there was pressure for action on two other measures, one to increase funds for the Commodity Credit Corp., and a basing point conference report. Lucas later told a newsman:

"I just do not know when FEPC will come up but it will come up."

Sen. Maybank (D) S.C., voiced the general viewpoint of southern Senators opposing FEPC by declaring:

"I'm glad they postponed it. We welcome all the delays. If they do call it up, we will talk and talk and talk. I don't think it can pass because they can't get cloture."

Cloture—the shutting off of debate—require a two-thirds vote of all 96 Senators.

Ward P.T.A. Has Meeting

Reelect Officers, Sponsor Girl Scouts

In the auditorium of Mahoning school there was a meeting of Mahoning Parent-Teachers Association on Tuesday evening.

A half hour period of room visitation was made during which Miss Jean Patterson's art classes gave an exhibition of their work, and a demonstration, with representative members of all classes taking part, all of which was very interesting.

President Mrs. Joseph Zumpella welcomed new members and again invited parents to join the organization. Principal Fred McLure reported on progress of the Civic club in their endeavor to obtain a sub-station for utility bills payment in the ward, and a promise of repairs to Bolt street, which are much needed.

Mrs. Walter Stone reported on the interesting joint program of Arthur McGill-Highland PTA, at which members of the school board explained the budget for the school year. Mahoning school is to have some much needed repairs, some of which have been completed, and is to have an annex, where the present old Woods building now stands.

Mrs. H. F. Freeman spoke of the City Council of PTA being organized, and Mahoning PTA voted to join this group; also voted to subscribe to the cub scouts magazine, and to purchase the handbooks to place in the school library where Mrs. Book will make them available to all children.

A report was given by Mrs. John Porter on progress of plans for the organization of Brownie and Girl Scout troops in the ward, and invited all interested in working on this program to meet with Mrs. D. B. Forsyth at 1 p. m. Thursday in the school. The PTA voted to sponsor the troops to be organized.

Protective garment bags will be purchased to store the newly completed school band capes and caps.

The parent attendance banner was awarded to Mrs. Skillen's class, and the attendance award was won by Mrs. William Ford.

The election of officers resulted in the return of Mrs. Joseph Zumpella and Mrs. Walter Stone as president and vice-president respectively; Mrs. Howard Culbertson as secretary and Mrs. Louis Ezzo as treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Brown and Russell Horchler were chosen as representatives to City Council PTA. These officers will be installed at the May meeting.

A motion picture of the American Cancer society on early protection and treatment was shown by Mrs. Black and was well received. It was decided to send three delegates to the southwest district conference on April 22 at Washington, Pa.

At the conclusion of the meeting the hostesses of the evening served a splendid lunch.

Four charter members were present: Mrs. Louise Ridley, Mrs. Della McCort, Mrs. Luella Fry and Mrs. Henrietta Powers. Mrs. T. C. Bollard, a member residing in Warren, O., was a guest.

The business session was in charge of Mrs. Ridley. Reminiscing and cards were the pastime of the afternoon, high score going to Mrs. Powers and Mrs. McCort.

CAN'T MAKE A MONKEY OF HIM

MINDFUL that a slot machine has often made a monkey out of a man, figuratively, we jumped when we saw this picture. The metamorphosis hadn't taken place, however. "Butchie," the monkey, is being rounded up by Mrs. Steve Nameth, after getting lost in a Las Vegas, Nev., slot machine arcade. (International)

HERE ARE FACTS!

1. UAW Local 69 (Bronze Workers) is the third largest local in Lawrence County, with 1200 members.
2. We belong to the largest CIO International Union with over 1,000,000 dues-paying members and get benefits for lots of free riders.
3. We believe in educating our members so they can run their own locals.
4. The Executive Board of UAW Locals can only recommend action—the membership has to approve recommendations and approve expenditures.
5. All monies collected from dues, etc., must be turned over to the financial secretary-treasurer of each local—who in turn sends the International their share—unlike some Internationals who take all monies and send their locals what they think they should have.
6. All UAW Locals—because of the program and departments set by mandate of the Conventions—can request and get any facts needed to deal with or combat any situation which may arise.
7. This proves that we UAW members belong to an International which is militant and Democratic. Our members run and handle their own affairs without interference from anyone. The officers are elected by the members of the local, and the membership themselves are the people who govern.

Mission Breaks All Records In Help Extended

The City Mission, 17 South Mercer street, has closed the busiest month in its near 40 year history, Supt. F. Dickson Marshall reported today.

The transient requests for shelter and food has been so great, during March that the month's budget reached the depletion point the mission head reported. The mission staff dispensed 1,187 meals or an average of 38 each day of the past month. Beds were used by 477 men during the period and 969 individual items of clothing were distributed to the needy.

Other figures released by Rev. Marshall showed that a total of 771 individuals attended services in the mission during March and 19 prayer requests were received. Four converts were reported in the mission, with the superintendent holding services five times out of the mission. Mrs. Marshall had three speaking engagements, while the superintendent sang at five services in various churches.

Financial Support

Rev. Marshall, speaking in reference to the financial burden of the mission, stated that 48 per cent of the revenue comes through the Community Chest, while the balance is supplied by the churches or Christian friends of the mission. The operating budget set up for March was far exceeded due to so many calls received for help by transients and local indigents. Only as support from the public increases can the work be kept moving along smoothly.

Through the kindness of friends, the mission was able to give a tasty chicken dinner to 83 transient men on Easter. Breakfast consisted of: one egg, two strips of bacon, toast and coffee. Dinner served included: creamed chicken, peas, dumplings, potatoes, cake, jello, bread, butter and coffee.

Through the help of Robert Fisher, cook, and much volunteer work by Mrs. John Gwin, the mission work has been carried on smoothly as cooperation was extended to Rev. and Mrs. Marshall. Flowers were donated over the Easter period by Mooney Bros. and McClelland florist.

The mission head reported that his services will be gladly offered to any church having need of such, either in filling vacant pulpits or visiting the sick.

Rev. Marshall is making extensive preparation for re-dedication services in the near future. He extended an invitation to the public to visit the Mission facilities.

Sees Big Church Vote At Primaries

HARRISBURG, April 13.—(INS)—The Federated Legislative Committee of Pennsylvania today boasted its drive to register the church-going population to vote in the May 16 primary has resulted in signing up approximately 60 percent of eligible voters.

Dr. B. E. Ewing, chairman of the organization's primary election committee, said the group is aiming at nearly 4,000,000 members of Protestant churches.

"If we are successful in this, we should increase the customary primary election church vote by a half million," Ewing said.

Purse With $18,000 Returned To Owner

PITTSBURGH, April 13.—(INS)—Twenty-seven-year-old Henry Kholos found a black purse on the floor of a Pittsburgh bus and gave it to the driver, never suspecting it contained $18,000.

Bus Driver Montell Simmons turned it over to a woman who had become ill and left the bus with a child and male companion. She flagged him down on his return trip to claim the purse Tuesday night.

The woman, who rewarded Simmons with a one dollar bill, told him the money was from the sale of her house.

Pittsburgh To Get Redevelopment Funds

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(INS)—The Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency approved yesterday a tentative five million dollar grant for slum clearance and urban redevelopment in Pittsburgh.

The grant becomes final upon the submission of specific projects and the letting of contracts by Pittsburgh authorities.

If no action is taken within six months, the authorization lapses. The five million dollar reserves for Pittsburgh projects was set aside at the request of the city council in that city.

Four Of Five Cases Are Same Charge

Four sentences for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor were handed down by Judge W. Walter Braham on Wednesday morning.

Roy Denney, Clarence McCormick, Joseph Bell and Clyde E. Reeher, all pleaded to the charge and were each sentenced to pay $100 and costs and thirty days in the county jail. They will be released in three days if the fine and costs are paid.

Henry A. Hassan was fined $50 and costs for operating a motor vehicle after his license was suspended.

Second Victim Of Auto-Street Car Crash Is Dead

WILKINSBURG, Pa., April 13.—(INS)—The Wilkinsburg automobile-street car crash in which an army nurse was killed last week claimed another victim Wednesday.

Major Louise F. Bendl, 37, of Latrobe, Pa., chief nurse at the nearby Aspinwall veterans' hospital, died early today in Columbia hospital.

Lt. Mary Sentner, 36, of Driftwood, Pa., died in the crash. She had been a passenger in the automobile which Maj. Bendl was driving.

Maj. Bendl's car was crossing an intersection when it collided with the trolley. None of 12 trolley passengers was injured.

The car, newly purchased by Maj. Bendl, was dragged 142 feet and sideswiped two parked automobiles.

Man Who Started Sanatorium Fire Sent To Farview

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 13.—(INS)—Nicholas A. Verna, 26-year-old ex-barber who admitted setting a sanatorium fire that claimed ten lives last March 29, was committed to Farview State Hospital for the Insane by Judge Harold G. Knight.

The commitment order was signed on the basis of a report of a mental examination given Verna April 5 by Drs. Arthur P. Noyes and Albert M. Biele, superintendent and assistant superintendent respectively of Norristown State hospital.

The psychiatrists wrote that Verna, an Army veteran, "is a constitutionally inferior feebleminded epileptic and is so defective mentally that he is not responsible for his behavior."

Evacuation From Shanghai By Sea Out, Says Acheson

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—Secretary of State Acheson announces that plans to evacuate 300 Americans and 1,300 other foreign nationals by sea from Communist-held Shanghai have been abandoned.

Acheson placed the blame on Communist refusals to grant clearance to small riverboats to ferry the evacuees down the narrow north channel of the Yangtze river.

He also blamed the Chinese Nationalists who informed the United States some time ago that for military reasons it could no longer delay mining the north channel.

The main channel, which would accommodate trans-Pacific liners, has long been mined.

In a lengthy statement read at his news conference, Acheson sketched the difficulties encountered in attempts to evacuate the foreigners.

He said plans were started in mid-January when it was announced that all U.S. official establishments in Communist China would be brought home. The Communists at that time refused permission to use commercial planes or travel by rail to other ports.

Truman Proclaims Farm Safety Week

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(INS)—President Truman has proclaimed the week of July 23 as National Farm Safety week. He asks all farmers to do some serious thinking about safety on the farm and then after the thinking is done—put safety to work.

Pennsylvania Expects California To Be Second

By AL SPIVAK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, April 13—Pennsylvania would like it known that there will be no hard feelings if California replaces the Keystone State as the second most populous in the union.

As a matter of fact, the State Commerce Department considers the west coast rival more to be pitied than envied if U. S. Census Bureau estimates come true.

Latest estimates place California more than 20,000 ahead of Pennsylvania in population. Pennsylvania has held the number two position for all but 10 years since the first census in 1790. New York now heads the list.

Pennsylvania Not Worried

Is Pennsylvania worried? "Not a bit!" Says Commerce Secretary Theodore Roosevelt III.

"California is growing too fast for its own good," he reports.

"Pennsylvania has been growing at a healthy rate population-wise," he pointed out. "I see no reason for concern whatsoever."

Roosevelt emphasizes that military personnel are counted in the population of states, and the great number of servicemen stationed in California accounts to a large degree for its upswing in numbers.

Research Director Roy Helton of the State Planning Board compares California's 54 percent population rise since 1940 to Pennsylvania's 7.4 per cent increase.

"Our population increase was as much as we could take," Helton says. "I don't think it would pay Pennsylvania to have very many more residents."

As of July, 1949, California was ahead of Pennsylvania's population by 10,665,000 to 10,635,000, Helton reports.

100,000 Military Personnel

"However, in those totals Pennsylvania's civilian population is 10,618,000 and California's is only 10,531,000.

"Pennsylvania is 87,000 ahead in civilians, yet more than 100,000 military personnel stationed in California put them ahead in total population by about 30,000 in July."

Helton echoes Roosevelt's opinion that more population means more trouble for California. He credits the war for an influx of workers to the state and cites the largest peace-time army in history as another contributing factor.

Helton expresses the belief that the huge rise in numbers is heavily taxing California's public utilities. In addition to depletion of natural resources, Helton says, problems arise because of lack of roads and schools.

Ten years ago second-place Pennsylvania had a 9,900,000 population while California was in fifth place with 6,907,000.

Muck Makes Muddle But Census Goes On

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 13.—(INS)—A census taker in the Johnstown district is a persistent man.

Last week his car was mired in the mud of a country road and had to be towed out.

For five days in a row he had to get someone to tow his car out of the mud.

The district census office, however, came to his rescue by transferring him to another area "until the roads dry up a little."

Untold Resources Awaiting Discovery Noted Chemist States

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—(INS)—An internationally noted chemist declared today that untold quantities of natural resources are still hidden away in plant life, awaiting discovery by man.

Dr. A. J. Haagan-Smit, of California Institute of Technology, told the American Chemical society's 117th national meeting that only "a few per cent" of the world's 250,000 plant species have been tested to see what products they might yield.

Dr. Haagen-Smit was awarded the society's $1,000 Fritzsche prize last Monday for his research in flavorings, perfumes and other oils.

"In our complex society, we are drifting further and further away from the use of natural foods, and it is well known that processing often leads to inferior products," he said.

"Since our sense of taste and especially the sense of smell can detect substances in extremely small amounts, analytical methods had to be developed for the identification of the microquantities of flavor substances."

He pointed out that there are more than 50 flavor compounds in a finished wine. Chemical analysis of these, he said, will determine the variables in wine, and eventually lead to an improved product.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, April 13.—(INS)—Ladies with an eye for big earrings—but an ear for comfort—can satisfy both with a new "no-squeeze, no-pinch, no-droop" earring.

"Wingbacks," the earrings which nestle into the ear lobe instead of clamping onto it were introduced today in their 1950 summer version.

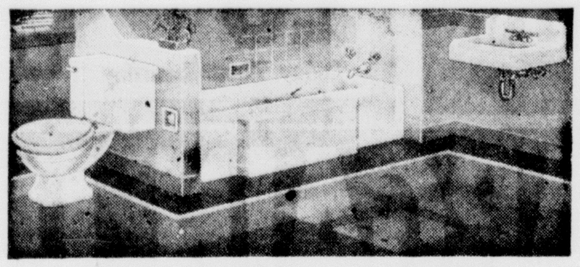

Though the "rings" themselves were often big as half dollars and dangling as much as three inches of excess jewels, their tricky-type backings made them seem bantamweight.

A butterfly-shaped wire slipped lightly into the lobe of the ear, while a slim band of wire eased behind the lobe for balance.

Regardless of size or weight of the earring itself, the "wingback" prevented jamming or slipping.

Campaigns Are Well Planned

Political Drives Are 'Exact' Science

HARRISBURG, April 13.—(INS)—The exact science of conducting political campaigns is one unfamiliar to most of the people who are influenced directly by the efforts of the master planners . . . Because of the ramifications of running a campaign, every move must be calculated as far in advance as possible with a practiced eye on the opposition's maneuvers . . . Campaign tours are not spur-of-the-moment trips with three or four stops but carefully-designed swings designed to put candidates into contact with the greatest number of people . . . Campaign intineries usually occupy all the time of one man while arrangements for hotels, automobiles and all the other paraphernalia necessary to trips . . . The distribution of campaign material is not done haphazardly . . . It is sent on a basis of population . . . The distribution plan used by most campaign managers is based on units of 10,000 population . . . Thus, for example, if only 10,000 campaign posters are to be distributed—and the number exceeds that many times—the table calls for the distribution to range from five in Forest county, with a 5,000 population, 2,000 in Philadelphia with a population of 2,000,000.

There is a report on capitol hill that the reason Majority Leader Charles H. Brunner Jr., decided not to seek re-election to the State House of Representatives is that he is shooting for a cabinet post in the next administration should Republicans win . . . It is said that if the Duff-Fine forces win he will make a strong bid for secretary of forests and waters . . . The tip off will be if he actively interests himself in the Duff-Fine campaign.

Should Congress and President Truman approve 300 million dollar a year aid to education bill for states, it probably will minimize any chance for similar legislation being adopted by the General Assembly during the 1951 session . . . Teachers have been working quietly through their organizations for higher salary scales ever since the assembly set up a continuing program in 1947 . . . The education program in Pennsylvania now costs more than 300 million dollars each two years . . . The amount which would be pro-rated Pennsylvania under a federal-aid program has not been determined finally but it probably would run upwards to 20 million dollars, according to informed sources . . . The Pennsylvania State Education association, the most potent teachers' lobby at the state capitol, is shooting for a flat $2,400 a year minimum for teachers.

This week the 1950 primary election campaign will hit its stride . . . So far, it gives promise on the Republican and Democratic sides of being a free-wheeling campaign such as was last seen in 1934 and again in 1938 . . . The campaigns of 1942 and 1946 were circumspect affairs . . . In 1934 there were 16 candidates for governor in the GOP camp and five on the Democratic side . . . One of the Republican hopefuls was Charles J. Margiotti whose campaign manager was James H. Duff, elected governor 12 years later . . . Four years later, Republicans offered four candidates in the primary while the Democrats had three, one of them Margiotti who had quit GOP ranks in 1935 and later was appointed attorney general in the first Democratic administration Pennsylvania had in 40 years.

Rural Cancer Work To Be Conducted Through Granges

Harold Burns, chairman of all rural districts in Lawrence county for the April campaign to raise funds for the American Cancer society, announces that rural solicitations will be conducted through the cooperation of the granges of the county.

Letters have gone out this week to each grange master, with the request that every member of each subordinate grange be contacted at the next meeting.

Those serving as masters of granges and receiving letters were: Edwin Gardner, Plaingrove Grange No. 1431; Gilbert Long, Willard Grange No. 1440; Arthur Black, Wilmington Grange No. 1477; George Brown, Pleasant Hill Grange No. 1505; Guy Fullerton, Westfield Grange No. 1514; Mrs. Clarence Black, East New Castle Grange No. 1536; Wayne Kennedy, Big Beaver Grange No. 1578; Alan Anderson, North Beaver Grange No. 1646.

Although plans for the boroughs are not yet completed, it is expected that Rotary clubs will handle the campaigns. Mr. Repman, president of the Rotary club of Wampum, will sponsor the campaign in Wampum. It is expected that the Rotary club in Bessemer will sponsor the campaign in Bessemer, and that the New Wilmington Rotary club will sponsor the drive there.

R. J. Schill is chairman for Ellwood City as he has been for the past several years.

The Plaingrove area will be headed by Mrs. R. D. Maxwell, who has volunteered to cover the district with the help of a crew of solicitors.

Rota Society Has Meeting Tuesday

Members of the Ladies Rota society of the Holy Trinity Polish National Catholic church met on Tuesday evening in the church auditorium.

The meeting was opened by the vice president, Mrs. Josephine Frengel, and Rev. E. C. Kuzminski led in prayer.

Mrs. Mary Chevitz tendered her resignation as president because of ill health and Mrs. Clara Shultz was elected as the new president. The group discussed plans to make a banner with the church symbols to be used at church functions.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Walter Otlowski and Mrs. Lottie Data.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 9.

A DAZZLING CLEAN WASH WITHOUT RINSING

...IT'S A NEW TIDE MIRACLE!

Just wash—wring out—hang up!

WOMEN EVERYWHERE say it's the greatest thing that ever happened to washday! They love the time and trouble they save by skipping the rinsing! They love the way it cuts down water bills! But most of all they love the way their clothes come dazzling clean . . . so clean they can't tell the difference between a Tide wash that's been rinsed and one that hasn't.

YOU ALREADY KNOW how clean Tide gets your clothes with rinsing—cleaner than any other washing product known. Now try the same wonderful Tide without rinsing and compare the results. You'll be amazed to see how bright and clean your wash comes right from the wringer. Get Procter & Gamble's Tide today—every package of Tide on your dealer's shelf right now will give you a dazzling clean wash without rinsing!

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT WASHING WITHOUT RINSING

1. How can Tide get clothes clean without rinsing? Tide keeps the dirt suspended in the sudsy water. When you wring out the clothes, the dirt runs out with the washwater—clothes come from the wringer CLEAN, and dry as bacteria free as rinsed clothes.

2. Will clothes come white? Yes, dazzling white! Just see if you can tell the difference between a rinsed, and an unrinsed Tide-washed shirt!

3. How about ironing unrinsed clothes? When you use Tide without rinsing, clothes dry soft and fluffy . . . iron easily.

4. Is this method safe for fabrics? Yes, it is safe . . . skipping the rinsing and extra wringings actually saves wear and tear on clothes.

"I'M THROUGH WITH RINSING—THANKS TO TIDE!"
SAYS MRS. GLORIA GUY, DETROIT, MICH.

"The grandest thing that ever happened to washday is Tide—without rinsing! The time it saves! Best of all—washes come out clean and dazzling white! So, why waste time rinsing when clothes come out like that without rinsing?"

When you wash without rinsing—
NO OTHER WASHING PRODUCT KNOWN WILL GET CLOTHES CLEANER THAN TIDE

Commentator Feels Senator's Communist Charges Grounded

COLUMBUS O. April 13.—(INS)—Radio commentator Fulton Lewis Jr. "believes very sincerely" Sen. McCarthy's charges of Communism in the State department "sooner or later will be proved 100 per cent true."

Addressing several thousand persons in Columbus Lewis assailed President Truman's program as "the same package" as British Socialism "dressed up just a little differe..t . . . a case of selling gold bricks to the public."

Lewis drew a round of applause when he asserted that the McCarthe charges might unseat the "present control of the government and put in a Republican president."

Under the sponsorship of the "Watch Washington Club," Lewis declared that McCarthy's charges of sex perversion in the State department are "definitely true." He said:

"One walk through the State department and it is only painfully evident."

Lewis urged a grass roots doorbell ringing campaign against the president's "fair deal" program.

McKeesport Mayor Suspends Police Chief, Two Officers

McKEESPORT, Pa., April 13.—(INS)—Mayor Charles A. Kinkaid said that he intends to stick by his decision to suspend from duty without pay McKeesport Police Chief Joseph Hopkins and two other officers.

They are charged with neglect of duty because the mayor said they had not pushed an investigation into charges that a petty racketeer had offered to "sell police protection" to a woman.

Chief Hopkins drew a five-day suspension. Lt. Jack Bankey and Detective Captain Anthony Hutskow were given three-day suspensions. The suspensions are effective tomorrow.

Mayor Kinkaid is a Republican. The three police officers are appointees of the Democratic-controlled city council.

Salvation Army Heads Leave For West Coast

Lt. and Mrs. Thomas Mack, who have been stationed at the local Citadel of the Salvation Army, North Jefferson street, for the past six months, left Wednesday to assume their new responsibilities on the west coast.

Although their stay in the city has been a short one, the couple have made many friends here.

The workers came to New Castle, in order that Mrs. Mack could be near her mother who has been ill Kittanning.

Their successors, Lt. and Mrs. W. Sharp of New York City have arrived in the city to take over their new duties. The new workers have been stationed at the Salvation Army Training College in New York for the past two years.

Welcome services for Lt. and Mrs. Sharp are planned for Sunday at the Salvation Army headquarters, North Jefferson street.

Fitting farewell was given to Lt. and Mrs. Mack on Easter Sunday during the presentation of the annual Easter program.

Police Guard Killer Of Bridgeport Girl

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 13.—(INS)—Bridgeport police guarded the hospital bed of a man who allegedly shot and killed a 25-year-old girl in a restaurant Tuesday and then returned to his rooming house where he put a bullet into his own head.

The girl, Gladys Barton Carter, was sitting in a booth in the restaurant when a man entered and fired a single shot from a .32 caliber pistol into her chest. About an hour later, shortly after midnight, a police ambulance rushed Willis Oakley, about 35, from his rooming house to a hospital. His condition is reported to be critical.

Fifteen other patrons of the restauarant witnessed the girl's death. Two men started to pursue the killer, but fell back when he threatened them with his gun.

Police later broke in Oakley's room and found him lying on the floor, critically wounded. Police said he muttered:

"I shot her because she double-crossed me."

Authorities said Oakley, a marine corps veteran, is a student at a Bridegport engineering school.

The "drunkard's cloak" was an old English punishment for topers. A spirits barrel with holes was hung on the souse and his hands were thrust through the holes. He could not sit or lie down.

Fathers-Sons Have Banquet

F.F.A. Event At New Wilmington Wednesday Night

New Wilmington Future Farmers of American held their second annual father-sons banquet at the New Wilmington Grange hall Wednesday evening at 6:30.

The affair was opened with the traditional ceremonies and the following officers were in charge: Bob Shumaker, Bob McFarland, Jim Byers, Tom Ligo, Jim Stonebraker and Jacob Baumgardner. Benjamin Roman and Alvah Shumaker led the group in singing "America." Bill Byers gave the invocation. Harold Raugh, acting as toastmaster, introduced the special guests and the boys in turn introduced their fathers.

"Moneymaking Enterprises" was the subject of an interesting talk by Jerry Litzenberg. Additional informative topics were given by Fred Gilliland, Tom Ligo and George Steingrabe entitled, respectively, "Slippery Rock Contests," "Penn State College Trip," and "Sears Roebuck Program."

The evening was climaxed by the introduction of Professor Walter Biberich of the Westminster faculty. Professor Biberich made interesting comments as he showed pictures of his trip to Europe.

John Garrett played his accordion for the group and the banquet was officially closed.

DuBois Probe May Be Dropped

DU BOIS, Pa., April 13.—(INS)—Clearfield county authorities refused to comment today on the "unofficial report" that autopsies in the taxi deaths of two Du Bois residents showed "nothing questionable" involved in the fatalities.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, which published the report, said it had learned from a good source that as a result of the autopsies the investigation may be dropped.

Clearfield County District Attorney Joseph A. Dague refused, however, to comment on the report. He said yesterday that a study of the autopsies probably will not be completed for several days.

The victims of the accident were Myril Sones, 24-year-old taxi driver, and Mrs. Josephine Brobst, 32, Du Bois housewife.

Their bodies were found in the wreckage of Sones taxi Feb. 5. Mrs. Brobst's husband, Ernest, 38, was found lying near the wreckage. He suffered slight injuries.

Brobst told police the two were killed when the taxi Sones was driving ran wild down a hill and crashed into a tree.

City, county and state police later launched an investigation.

The cotton boll weevil first entered South Carolina in 1917. By 1921 it had spread all over the state.

Optimists See Al-Can Films

New Castle Optimist club took a "dream trip" to Alaska and the Northwest at its regular dinner meeting at The Castleton Wednesday night.

Charles W. Robinson, guest of the club, showed colored films of the trip made by a party of Lawrence county people in a specially equipped bus. Henry Hamilton assisted Mr. Robinson.

Other guests of the Optimists were Linden Bruce, Earl C. Ruby and five boy scouts; Jay Walter, Dwight Fiscus, Myron Brooks, Robert Smith, and Gordon Windl.

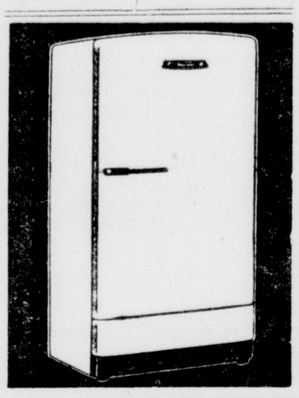

The Optimists also made plans to be host to representatives of District One, Optimist International, this weekend. Delegates from Optimist clubs in New York, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, will convene at The Castleton. Sweden Makes Mild Protest To U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—The State department received a mild protest from Sweden today charging that four American planes had flown over the Sewdish naval base of Karlskrona on April 9 and 10.

The air force chief of the search mission for the missing Navy plane possibly involved in the Russian incident has denied that U.S. planes flew over forbidden territory. The Swedish authorities said, however, they were sure of their identification.

H. Freeman Matthews, U. S. ambassador, reported that Political Director Sven Dahlman had called him at the request of Prime Minister Oster Unden to lodge the protest.

Senate Confirms Secretary Finletter

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—The senate today confirmed the nomination of Thomas K. Finletter to be secretary of air.

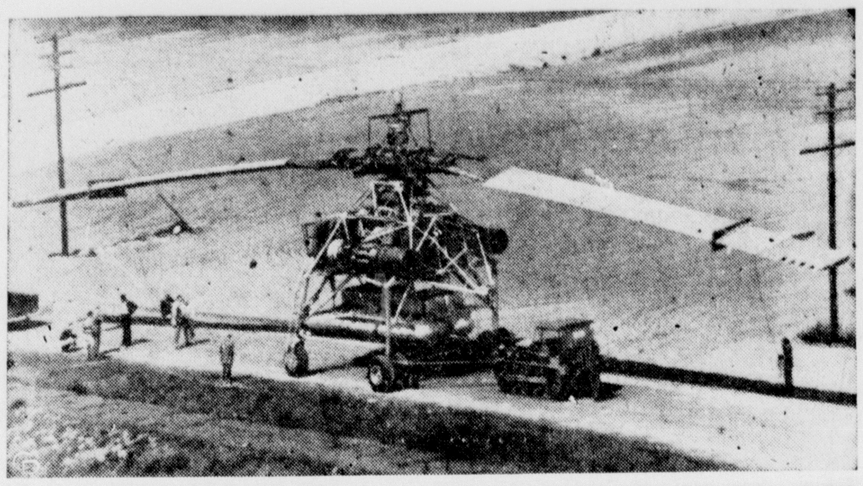

The senate acted only a few minutes after its armed services committee gave the apointment its unanimous approval.

The committee earlier secretly questioned Finletter, who headed the president's air policy commission which in 1947 recommended a 70-group air force.

Chairman Tydings (D) Md., said Finletter told the committee that he feels pretty much the same today on the size of the air force but would like to examine the whole situation again "in light of present circumstances".

HUGHES' NEWEST 'COPTER WITH 100-FOOT ROTORS

GIANT EXPERIMENTAL twin-jet helicopter built at Howard Hughes' Culver City, Cal., plant is wheeled out for several weeks of ground testing. The craft, designed to carry massive military loads, has 100-foot rotors, each as big as average size airplane wing. It could carry 100 men. (International)

GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scout Troop 25

Two groups of Girl Scouts from troop 25, under the leadership of Mrs. Ray Webb and Mrs. Joseph Maslanik, assisted by Mrs. Charles Levine and Mrs. Lauri Laurell, were conducted through the Frozen Food Locker Plant of Croton avenue. The girls observed the proper way to process foods for deep freezing.

Harry Waldman talked to the girls, telling them of the vast field that the frozen food industry is covering, and of its future possibilities. He stressed the importance of quality in meats, government inspection, and of the manner in which to select good grades of meat.

All this discussion will aid the girls in their badge work on foods and nutrition. The scouts appreciate the cooperation from local concerns.

Girl Scout Troop 5

Members of Girl Scout troop 5 enjoyed a hike to Welkers greenhouse on Monday morning. This provided an opportunity for the girls to see the employes transplanting flowers and plants. Many useful ideas were learned for the scout's agriculture field.

At noon the girls ate their lunch near a stream and sang several songs with their leaders, Mrs. Everett Perkins, Miss Joan Benninghoff, and Mrs. Clark Shumate.

OVERCOMING SHYNESS

"When I am with a few friends I know well, I ant at ease conversationally; but let strangers come in and immediately I close up like a clam and can think of nothing to say. It is, I suppose a form of self-consciousness, for I know they aren't my mental superiors. We are all of ordinary intelligence with equal knowledge of world events, etc. Can you give me any help in overcoming my tongue-tied condition?"

Answer: The fact that you admit these people who frighten you are not your mental superiors should cure you of your tongue-tied condition.

You alone can overcome your handicap by telling yourself that you are silly and childish. Self-conscious people, who sit silently by, usually give the impression of being either dumb or indifferently aloof.

Speak up! Contribute your share of the conversation. You owe your hostess that much.

To overcome your shyness, you may find it helpful to keep a notebook of conversational tidbits. Jot down in it some amusing stories, incidents, or repartee worth repeating during a lull when you realize you should say something.

Contribute at least one or two stories during an evening. Before going out, glance through your notebook and select a few things to talk about so that you will have something prepared in case of emergency. Those who have no difficulty in thinking of things to say might think this very odd; but it is really an excellent idea for those who get tongue-tied in the presence of strangers.

Secretary Of Army Formally Sworn In WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—Chief Justice Vinson Wednesday swore in Frank Pace, Jr., as secretary of the army in a ceremony at the Pentagon.

Secretary of State Acheson and Treasury Secretary Snyder were among 400 officials and military officers present to congratulate Pace, who retired as budget director to succeed Gordon Gray in the army post.

Defense Secretary Johnson read a telegram from former President Herbert Hoover expressing approval of Pace's selection.

Gray becomes a special assistant to President Truman on foreign financial matters and later will become president of the University of North Carolina.

Among the Kuki-Lushai people of India a suitor is expected to take a present of liquor to the girl's parents.

UN Agency Seeks To Educate World On Surplus

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—An agency of the United Nations is out to educate the public about the world food problem—surpluses and shortages.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization says it will launch a program April 13 to stimulate local discussions on country-wide education in what it calls the "Food and People" situation.

Educational and other civil groups are asked to help spread the word.

The sole purpose for the campaign is just to stimulate discussion, officials say. It's being done in other countries too.

They say UNESCO has no program after that—no plan to bring surplus foods to starvation areas. That's up to the people.

After they have discussed the problem and know all about it, the people will then know what programs to support, UNESCO says. Spokesmen didn't know who would work up programs to see that hungry peoples get surplus food.

Plan Conference

The agency will hold a conference with outstanding educators an agriculture leaders April 13 to 15. Asked where current U. S. surplus foods entered into the picture, an official said the agency hopes that will not be brought up at the meetings. UNESCO says:

"As individuals we can become better informed about the world food problem, the sections of greatest need, reasons for food deficit areas, areas where there is surplus food, and ways in which a better balance between food supply and demand may be brought about.

"As citizens, joining with other citizens, we can support national and international programs that promise to bring food and people into eventual balance."

Officials don't think an immediate solution to this country's current farm surpluses will grow out of the campaign.

Bessemer Juniors To Present Play

"Home Sweet Homicide," a three-act comedy by Ann Reynolds, will be presented by the junior class of Bessemer high school Thursday evening, April 20. The play was chosen due to its adaptability to young actors, many of its characters being juvenile.

This play has been a tremendous success wherever presented, and with the enthusiasm expressed by the cast of the junior class, it is destined to repeat former triumphs at the Bessemer school.

Local Navy Club To Meet Tonight

New Castle Navy club will hold an important meeting tonight at 8:30 at The Castleton.

A delegate to the national Navy club convention at Elmira, N. Y., will be selected. All members have been urged to attend and participate in the choosing of a candidate.

Union Firemen Will Have Special Meeting

Union Township Volunteer Firemen will meet in special session this evening in their fire hall in Union township at 8 o'clock. Business of importance will be transacted, with reports on the building fund raising campaign which is in progress to be heard.

Laid To Chemicals Stomach Disorders

LONDON—(INS)—Scientists are wondering whether the increase of stomach troubles in the past 50 years in Britain has been caused by the wide-spread use of chemicals to make food "taste nicer."

The Government-appointed Medical Research Council, in a review of the country's health, disclosed that 90 percent of the flour consumed in Britain is subjected to a process which has been found to cause mental disorder and even death in dogs.

French Climbers Go After Record

PARIS—(INS)—France is about to attack the Himalayan mountains in Nepal—between India and Tibet—with a commando force of eight "grimpeurs".

The "grimpeurs"—or mountain climbers—are getting their sights on Mt. Dhaulagiri, snow-capped giant rising 26,800 feet above sea level. If they reach the top, they will have climbed the highest mountain ever scaled by man.

According to French authorities, the highest altitude reached by mountain climbers is 28,230 feet, attained in 1924 on the slopes of nearby Mt. Everest. But the climbers—two Britishers—died before they reached the summit, 29,002 feet.

The French will be out to redeem the failure of their last expedition in 1936, which fell short of the top of Headen Peak, also in the Himalayas.

This time they are using streamlined tactics, with professional Alpine guides and a doctor. Last time a team of eight, mostly amateurs, dragged along 13 tons of impediments, such as food, tools and tents. The baggage is now limited to three tons.

Chief innovation will be the use of nylon for most everything from ropes and high-altitude tents to sleeping bags. Nylon doesn't freeze, and is lighter than normal rope, the French team says.

Temple Israel Friday Services

Sabbath services at Temple Israel will be conducted Friday evening at 8 o'clock, with Dr. Iwan J. Gruen in charge.

Dr. Gruen will speak on the subject "The Challenge of the H-Bomb."

It was estimated that in 1929 bootleggers netted more than $2,000,000,000.

Spurting from a cliff more than half a mile high in the jungle fastness of eastern Venezuela is Angel Falls, world's highest water falls, says the National Geographic society. Fifteen times higher than Niagara Falls, the cataract drops a total of 3,212 feet into the Churun river. Water spouts at its head are believed to be a city block wide.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports a trend among low-income families toward eating more meat, poultry, fish and eggs.

Foreign Aid Facing Cuts

House Debates Billion Dollar Trim

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Congress traditionally talks economy and votes big money. But administration leaders are worried this session about foreign aid funds.

The House now is debating whether to cut the Economic Cooperation Administration request by one billion dollars and instead authorize the agency to take that amount out of surplus stocks of farm crops. Even beyond that is a determined economy bloc move to make a direct cash cut in 1951 ECA funds.

The House particularly is tending to kick over the traces where foreign aid is concerned. It showed that early in the session by rejecting a $60,000,000 aid to Korea bill.

It finally passed the measure after it was doctored up to attract more votes. But the administration is still shakily wiping its brow over the narrow escape.

This is the rub: the only two items in the budget that offer any chance of trimming are the huge defense expenditures and the foreign aid program.

In view of the present critical world situation, legislators are not overly inclined to cut down on the armed services. That leaves just one practical place to drive in the economy axe. And the administration knows it will have to fight hard to salvage the major part of the foreign program.

US-USSR TRADE

The cold war has cut trade between the United States and Russia to a mere trickle. However, the favorable balance of what trade is left has shifted from the American to the Soviet side, if the old criterion of exports over imports still holds true.

Here are the export-import figures for the United States for the past three years:

1947—exports, $149,069,000; imports, $77,102,000. 1948—exports, $27,879,000; imports, $86,825,000. 1949—exports, $6,617,000; imports, $39,140,000.

Behind these figures is the United States move to cut off large machinery shipments to the Soviet to avoid building up the Russian war potential and Russia's drastic reduction of manganese and chrome shipments to this country.

Coal Peace

Both coal operators and government officials are asking themselves this question: how long is John L. Lewis going to stay quiet under the miners' new contract?

The pact runs for two years and is reopenable upon 30 days' notice after April 1, 1951, but that is no guarantee that the crafty mine workers chief may not swing into action long before then.

Best guess is that Lewis will do nothing for some months, at least until coal stocks get to an unwieldly size again—possibly 50 billion tons or there abouts. Coal supplies got up to nearly 70 million tons last year, and it took Lewis and the miners 10 long months to whittle them down to the point where they could pressure the operators into a new contract.

The union is not likely to let stocks get that high again but just what it will do is uncertain. The "able and willing" clause under which Lewis ordered the three-day work week last year was eliminated in the new contract.

Drive Slow—Children Move Fast!

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, April 13.—Barbara Bel Geddes, probably the only actress named after a magazine looked real pretty behind a king-size chocolate fudge sundae at the Brown Derby bar.

Miss Bel Geddes wiped off her pretty mouth and said:

"Pull up a check, I mean a chair."

The waiter brought in another chocolate fudge sundae and blonde Barbara came right to the point by asking:

"Do you know of any meaty movie roles lying around?"

Refuses Seven Parts

We said we did not and Barbara said she had turned down seven screen assignments in the past couple of months and not because they were not starring roles, either.

The gal who was the rage of Broadway four years ago in "Deep Are The Roots," explained:

"I've turned down roles because I don't want silly, asinine parts simply for the sake of working. I don't mean that I'm 'arty,' or anything like that. I mean I'd rather sit around taking it easy and enjoying life instead of doing a picture I don't like."

Award Winner

Barbara, who won an academy award nomination for "I Remember Mama," her second movie, has worked in five films in the past four years. The latest was "Panic In The Streets."

"I play Richard Widmark's wife in the last one," she said. "It's a good solid role, the kind I'm holding out for."

While she waits for other solid roles, Barbara spends her time painting and rearing her five-year-old daughter, Susan.

Husband Is Agent

Her husband, Carl Schreur, is one of the busiest actor's agents in Hollywood. He could get the 27-year-old actress a movie job six days a week, but the daughter of Norman Bel Geddes, the noted industrial designer, is adamant about her roles.

And while the waiter was lugging in a couple more of the Brown Derby's potent chocolate fudge sundaes, Barbara explained how she was named after a magazine.

"I was born in New York," she said, "shortly after my mother and dad, Belle and Norman Geddes, launched a publication, 'The Bel-Geddes magazine.' When I was launched they christened me after the magazine, dropped the hyphen and all of us legally adopted the Bel Geddes handle."

GI Cockroaches Too Lazy For Job

MEDFORD, Mass., April 13. —(INS)—GI cockroaches are so lazy they won't even do their bit for science.

That's the word from Prof. Kenneth D. Roeder of Tufts College, who is in the market for good, lively male roaches.

The professor is studying cockroaches for nerve impulses, which he claims, are the same as those in humans.

The army sent Dr. Roeder a batch from Rochester, N. Y., and, he said, they acted like a GI work detail. No oomph.

Restaurants have been solicited, too, Prof. Roeder said, but so far he has collected only arched eyebrows from that source.

The reason the professor prefers male to female roaches is because the girls are too short and stubby.

The record height reached by a helicopter is slightly over 21,220 feet.

Adrian Fisher Concert, Tops

Local Artiste Pleases Cathedral Audience

It is a satisfying thing of an evening to hear a truly fine musician perform in the Cathedral. But is infinitely more satisfying when the artiste is a fellow townsman and so it was in the Cathedral Wednesday night.

Adrian Fisher, pianist, presented a concert for the benefit of the New Castle Hospital Women's Auxiliary and to an appreciation of a talented young woman's art, comes an additional glow over the fact that she is one of us. For her concert was a top drawer performance.

Sprinkle enough Chopin and Debussy into a concert program and you get a performance brilliant and lively. Add a little Beethoven for profundity and garnish with Gershwin and there you have a program that just a good pianist will do well with. But put in the hands of a talented pianist and you have an evening of sheer delight. That about sums up Miss Fisher and her concert Wednesday night.

If there is one thing above another that stands her out among female pianists it is her power. She uses the piano as a fine craftsman uses a precision tool and every tone she brings out is clear and vibrant, turned out like a gem.

Perhaps her favorite composer is Chopin for somehow she seems to give the works of the Polish genius a high priority. Or it may be that this reviewer just happens to like Chopin a cut above some others. At any rate her brilliance seems to reach its zenith in Chopin.

For an encore she played Chopin's "Polonaise" and for a second encore a samba. As she finished four ushers came down the aisle loaded with flowers for her and no one deserved them more.

For brilliant work Wednesday night Miss Fisher received only the appreciation of her auditors, and the satisfaction of aiding a worthy cause. Her services were donated to the auxiliary.

The worthiness of the cause and the talent of Miss Fisher deserved a larger crowd. About 750 attended.

Standing are Superintendent of Schools Carl Hanson and Policewoman Madeline Johnson. (International)

Lawrence County Council Of Sportsmen Banquet Tonight

Many Plan To Attend Fete In Cathedral

Attorney Shumaker To Deliver Main Banquet Address

Elderly and young, and in some instances many members of the entire family, all lovers of outdoor life, such as hunting, fishing and conservation,, plan to attend the annual banquet of the Lawrence County Council of Sportsmen at 6:30 tonight in the Cathedral. Anticipation is, hundreds will attend the fete.

District Attorney Clyde Shumaker of Butler county, one of the most gifted orators in the state, and a man well versed in outdoorism, will be the principal speaker, while Hon. Judge John G. Lamoree, also a lover of the outdoors, will be the toastmaster.

After the diners enjoy an excellent dinner in the banquet hall, they will journey to the auditorium, where they will be entertained for more than one hour with a vaudeville show, composed of performers, assembled by Dy Jones, an impressario of local renown.

In the ballroom will be seen an excellent display, in fact 12 of them, of the latest in outdoors sporting equipment. Everything from boats to fish hooks will be on display, and the junior sportsman adjudged the builder of the best bird-house, will be awarded a trophy.

According to reports today, men and women and their offsprings from all sections of the county plan to attend this evening's affair. It has been staged by the council which is comprised of all of the outdoors organizations in the county.

Ricks Capture Auto League Championship

Ricks won the Automotive Duckpin league championship Wednesday evening by defeating Crafts 2117-2092 in a playoff match.

Frank Scungio, of Crafts, had high series with 479, followed by J. R. Rick, of Ricks, with 477.

Ricks won the National division title and Crafts took the American section crown in regular season play, and met Wednesday for the league championship.

Ricks posted the league's three game high for the season with 2304 and also the single game high with 805.

League banquet will be held Thursday, April 20, at the New Castle Country club.

Eight New Champions Crowned By Amateurs

—Acme Telephoto

BOSTON, MASS.—Wes Echols of Atwater, Calif., is shown holding the trophy he was awarded after being voted the outstanding individual boxer after his victory in the middleweight class in the National A. A. U. boxing finals held at the Boston Gardens Wednesday night.

BOSTON, April 13. — (INS) — Eight new champions ruled the amateur fistic roost today and the 140 boxers who competed in the 62nd annual National Boxing Tournament started back to their homes.

The champs and their classes were:

Flyweight — Sherman Nelson, Philadelphia.

Bantamweight — Mickey Mars, Cleveland.

Featherweight — Sam Rodgers, Baltimore.

Lightweight — George Justice, Philadelphia.

Welterweight—Gil Turner, Philadelphia.

Middleweight—Wes Echols, Atwater, Calf.

Light Heavyweight — Eldridge Thompson, Washington, D. C.

Heavyweight—Norvel Lee, Washington, D. C.

Echols Outstanding

When the last bell sounded, however, it was Echols and the Philadelphians who stole the show. The Californian, a deadly relentless puncher with dynamite in both fists, stood head and shoulders over the rest of his class to win the outstanding boxer of the tournament.

The Philadelphians, paced by windmill Gil Turner, took the team crown as they snared championships in three classes. Turner, a fighter after the hammering Henry Armstrong, waded through the welterweight class with remarkable ease, never once being seriously tested.

Penn State's only three-letter athlete, Charles (Chuck) Drazenovich, will turn his attention to track after spring vacation. The 215-pound footballer, who won his third eastern and first national heavyweight boxing title during the season just closed, last spring earned his first letter as a shot putter.

The baseball life of 32-year-old Sal Maglie may just be beginning this season. The right-handed New York Giant pitcher is trying to earn himself a place in the Major Leagues after returning from the defunct Mexican League venture.

Springer Completes Umpire Training At Florida School

STENGEL, SPRINGER

Ted Springer, Rear 507 Court street, has completed his second year at the George Barr Umpire school at Sanford, Fla., and is back in New Castle, where he will probably umpire city and county baseball games during the summer.

Ted attended the Barr school for three months—the first six weeks at Sanford and the remainder at St. Petersburg, where he umpired St. Louis Cardinal intrasquad games.

While at St. Petersburg he umpired one New York Yankees—St. Louis Cardinal exhibition game and later hooked up with the world champions as bat boy.

Yankee Bat Boy

He was bat boy with the Yankees for the last couple of weeks in the south and will be with the team for its exhibition with the Pittsburgh Pirates at Forbes Field Thursday, April 13.

During his stay with the Cardinals and Yankees he collected a valuable array of photos, some taken by him and some taken of him with various major league stars.

Ted first became interested in umpiring while working at Al Lang Field in St. Petersburg several years ago. It was there that he learned of the Barr School for Umpires and the next season he enrolled.

Last year he umpired games in the City and County baseball leagues and expects to do the same this year. He had several offers from Class D leagues in the south but preferred to come back to New Castle for the summer.

Caps And Barons Tangle Tonight

INDIANAPOLIS, April 13.—(INS)—The Indianapolis Caps go all out for the kill tonight when they take to their home rink against the Cleveland Barons in the American Hockey league playoff finals.

With three straight defeats hanging over their heads in the best-of-seven series, the Barons seem doomed for defeat tonight when they meet the Caps, who finished the regular season in the Western Division's second place spot.

But the Barons, who ended the season 10½ games ahead of their nearest rival, will give it all they have in a desperate attempt to win at least one game of the playoff series. To win four straight which they would have to do to cop the title, seems impossible.

TEAM TO PRACTICE

Franks, City loopers, will practice Thursday and Sunday, weather permitting.

Westminster Nine Opens Next Week

Westminster college's newest athletic baby—intercollegiate baseball— will be baptized next Thursday afternoon at New Wilmington's community field.

Duquesne university's nine faces the slants of a yet unnamed Westminster starting pitcher at 2:30 p.m. Thursday. It will mark the opening of Westminster's first baseball season since before the war.

Ridl Is Coach

Between 30 and 35 diamond candidates have been working out under coach Charles "Buzz" Ridl since March 23, although an announcement of even a tentative lineup is yet forthcoming. The Titans will play a nine or ten game schedule, according to Grover C Washabaugh, director of athletics at Westminster.

The schedule:

April 20, Duquesne here; April 22, Gannon here; April 25, Slippery Rock away; April 29, Alliance here; May 2, Allegheny here; May 6 Geneva away; May 9, pending; May 13, Slippery Rock here; May 16 Alliance away; May 20, Gannon away.

Canadian Meets Schacht Friday

LaBelle-Pancho In Another Match

Fans who like their wrestling served pro' and rough will journey Friday night into The Arena to witness Frederick Von Schacht, Milwaukee German, attempt to do unto Larry Kasaboski, Canadian heavyweight title claimant, what he failed to do unto Don Eagle some weeks back.

They're scheduled to grapple one hour to a decision, unless the exhibition is abruptly halted by a fall.

Expect Excitement

The burly German employed considerable tactics against Don Eagle. However, the aborigine met him at his own game and won finally with a "death hold."

It will be the Canadian's debut here.

Extreme excitement is certain to prevail when Pancho Valentino, known as the "Bad Boy of Wrestling" takes on Pierre LaBelle, durable Frenchman, in a return bout limited to 20 minutes. Pierre downed Pancho some weeks ago and naturally the "bad boy" is anxious to attone for the defeat.

Two Newcomers

Wild Bill Cody, who knows all of the tricks and employes them, will tackle Chris Pappas, a Grecian heavyweight in the first 2-minute match. Both will be showing here for the first time and no doubt they'll endeavor throughout the match to win the bout and fancy of fandom.

The tag, or brawl, will be comprised of the men in the 20-minute exhibitions. The losers of the 20-minuters will be given the privilege of selecting their partners. The tag, which is nothing more than a street-like brawl, minus biting and the strangle-hold is scheduled for the best two of three falls.

Penn State's 1950 baseball captain, Dick Wertz of Newport, bats right-handed but throws left-handed. The smooth-working first baseman last year was numbered among the first five hitters on the team, and coach Joe Bedenk expects him to hit even better this spring.

The only thing wrong with moving the annual college rowing regatta from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to Marietta, O., is that they didn't move it far enough.

Luke Appling Rejoins White Sox, Puts Quiet To Rumors Of Quitting

By JAMES ENRIGHT
(International News Service Sports Writer)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 13.—Manager Jack Onslow of the Chicago White Sox was downright indignant today over what he termed "imagination stories" that veteran Shortstop Luke Appling had jumped the club and returned to his Atlanta, Ga., home.

Appling rejoined the team in Memphis last night and repeated that he's ready and willing to play wherever Onslow wants him.

Published reports said Appling, starting his 20th year with the Chisox, had jumped the club because the manager had decided to start the season with Alfonso Carrasquel at shortstop.

Stories Unfair

Onslow said the stories were "utterly unfair" and explained that he had given Appling permission to fly to his home and rejoin the club in Chicago Friday. Appling had been given similar "days off" for the past several seasons. Onslow added:

"After finishing up his business and spending a day with his family, Luke flew back to join us here.

"That is the story ,and there is nothing else to it. Luke knows I plan to open the season with Carrasquel at shortstop. He's also told me he'll play when and where I want him."

May Play First

There is still a possibility that Onslow may use Appling at first base although "Old Folks" has said he would rather not play that position. Luke started three exhibition games at the new post.

Appling poked about what he called a "crazy story" about his jumping the club and added:

"I guess some of my press box buddies think I have been a bad boy because I still consider myself a pretty good shortstop."

General Manager Frank Lane and Vice Persident Charles Comiskey laughed off the "jumping" reports. Comiskey commented:

"The only way anybody will ever get Luke out of a White Sox uniform is cut it off him. He's not the jumper type."

Truman To Hurl 'First Ball'

President Throws Next Tuesday

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS)—President Truman "signed up" Wednesday for his traditional chore of throwing out the first ball to open the major league baseball season.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, called at the White House and invited Mr. Truman to attend the Senators' opening game April 18 with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Mr. Truman agreed to attend, and said he is ready to take on the pitching job.

Griffith and Ford Frick, president of the National League, presented the president with his annual season passes to major league games.

For the 33rd year in a row, George Harvey will be on the streams for the Pennsylvania trout fishing season. The 38-year-old Penn State expert, a pioneer in fly tying and fly casting instruction, cast his first line into the water as a five-year-old in 1918.

Earl Bruce, former Brownsville, Pa., high school coach, is pinch-hitting for Penn State's still-unnamed coach during Spring football drills. He joined the college staff as freshman mentor four years ago.

Wagner Will Report Sunday

Squad To Leave For Greencastle

—New Castle News Photos
FRANK WAGNER

New Castle Senators baseball stock went up several points today when Frank Wagner, the leading hurler in the Mid-Atlantic league last year, assured the Senators' management that he will report Sunday.

Wagner with an 18 and 9 record last year with the Nats will leave for Greencastle with the first contingent, and said today in a telephone talk from his home in Buffalo, N. Y.: "I hope to win 20 this year for the Senators. My arm feels good. I am happy about going to training camp."

Wagner set a close record last year by fanning 207 batters and walking but 95 in 38 games, 23 of which he completed. His earned run average was 3.20, which is tops for the 245 innings he toiled.

Good Hurling Staff

The Senators are in pretty fair shape for pitchers—with Herb Churchill due back, having won 12 and lost 11 as a rookie last year; Manager Charles Cronin, Ron Henderson, a highly regarded rookie from Marion, O., a right-hander; Gordon Greene, Neal Marino, Paul Baldizowski, "Mitch" Hartman, Mike Giardullo with the Nats last year, a southpaw; Stanley Zedalis, Bernard Rossman, George Becka and Dean Rothrock, a leftie, all in organized ball last year.

A New Castle boy, Mickie Michalojko, will go to camp and make a try to land a pitching job. Michalojko was formerly in the Boston Braves chain and hurled at Mt. Vernon, Ill., his last year in organized ball. He has been pitching for the Lawrence Indies in the City league here for the past two years with fine success. Dick Janacone, another New Castle boy, is also going to camp. He was with the Nats for a short time last year.

Softball Umpires To Meet Tonight

City Softball umpires will hold an important meeting tonight at eight o'clock, it is announced by Bird Riley.

The purpose of the meeting is to go over the new softball rules.Last week there was quite a discussion on the position of the umpires. At that meeting officers were elected. They are:

Bird Riley, preiesdnt; Tony Cioffi, vice president; Jim Abraham, secretary and treasurer. Mike Toney, Ray Campoli and Jim Abraham were elected to the committee.

Wampum Quintet In National Cage Tournament Today

Wampums entry in the annual Rotary club basketball tournament left early this morning for tourney action in Rome, New York.

Wampum coach L. Butler Hennon led a contingent of eight players who will participate in the under 14-age group against fifty teams from all parts of the country. Milt Flynt, a fellow Wampum Rotarian, made the trip as a representative of the club that is sponsoring the expedition to upstate New York.

Meet New York

Coach Hennon will have four of the five starters that was runner-up in the Struthers junior tournament that had an age limit of 17. The Lawrence county lads, therefore, expect to do pretty well against boys in their own age group.

Their first opponent will be New York Mills on Thursday evening. Binghamtown, N.Y., is the probable second round foe. Others in the same bracket as Wampum come from Massachusetts, and Connecticut.

Wampum's starting five will be Ronnie Bucelli, Don Henon, Bill Kruger, Don Swoggers, and Gene Armotorio. Substitutes are Loyal Brown, Dick Lutz, and John Melfi

Redskins Sign Bill Dudley

WASHINGTON, April 13—(INS) Bill Dudley, twice the National Professional Football league's leading ground gainer, signed a contract Wednesday with the Washington Redskins.

The former University of Virginia ace came to the Redskins in a deal which sent halfback Dan Sandifer to the Detroit Lions.

A league standout since 1942 with the Pittsburgh Steelers and Detroit, Dudley led the loop in ball carrying in 1942 and 1946 and finished third in scoring last year with 81 points.

Dudley is 28 and because of his comparatively light weight—176 pounds—frequently has threatened to terminate his pro career. He yielded to Redskin pressure, however, and club officials said they expect him to have a big season.

Richie Ashburn, Phils' centerfielder started his baseball career as a catcher.

Eagles-Browns Clash Sept. 16

Saturday Night Battle Arranged

PHILADELPHIA, April 12.—(INS)—Professional football's new era of peace will be kicked off September 16 with a loveless battle of supremacy between the champions of the former rival leagues.

James P. Clark, president of the Philadelphia Eagles, announced today that the Eagles, National League champions, and the Cleveland Browns, leaders of the former All-America conference, will meet in the long-awaited "dream game" to launch the new season.

Hope For Sellout

He said the game will be sponsored by Philadelphia Inquirer Charities, Inc., which cancelled its annual pre-season tilt.

Site of the game will be Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium which seats 102,000 pectators, and league officials are hoping for a sellout.

The game will be played under the lights on a Saturday night, the eve of the season's official opening.

Hockey Teams Clash Tonight

TORONTO, April 13.—(INS)—The New York Rangers and Detroit Red Wings clash in the second game of their Stanley cup final playoff tonight at the Rangers' home away from home, Toronto.

Detroit's 4 to 1 victory in the series opener Tuesday put the Rangers behind the eight-ball. The cards are heavily stacked against the Broadway blues since their own Madison Square Garden is not available for any of the series.

Lindsay Returns

The Rangers were notably unsuccessful on the Toronto ice all season, winning none, tying two and losing five games. Detroit tied one, won four and lost two in Toronto during the regular season. In the first round playoffs, the Red Wings took two out of three games played in the Canadian city.

Detroit also will be strengthened by the return of Ted Lindsay, leading scorer in the league, who missed Tuesday's game with a back ailment.

CROTON SEEKS PLAYERS

Croton A. C., according to Manager Henry Rico requests all 1949 players, and also candidates for the 1950 team, to meet at Memo's shop, East Brook street, at eight o'clock, Friday night.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

OUTDOORISM will be the theme at 6:30 p. m. tonight in The Cathedral when the Lawrence County Council of Sportsmen hold their annual banquet for both elderly and young interested in hunting, fishing and conservation. . . . Friday night, the grapplers will stage their semi-monthly carnival of action in The Arena, the main exhibition being between Frederick Von Schacht, and Larry Kasaboski, the former a Milwaukee German, and the latter, a Canadian. It will be a 60-minutes, or one fall exhibition. . . . Bob Gregg of Kamas, Wash., and Gene Hartley of Roanoke, Va., are among the new entries in the 500-mile Indianapolis auto speed classic, Memorial day. . . . State Game Commission has approved bids for commercial breeders who will supply ringneck pheasants for spring and fall release in Pennsylvania. These birds are in addition to the 60,000, possibly raised in Pennsylvania. Some pheasant chicks are being reared in Lawrence county. . . . Here & There saw two grouse on the East Brook-Harlansburg black-top highway, Tuesday evening. . . . Ten bucks will be the top cost of the 50-round fistic carnival in the Cleveland Arena, April 18, which will be featured by a junior lightweight championship "go" between Sandy Saddler, Harlem, New York City, and Lauro Salas, California Mexican. Herm Steinbrink has a party arranged to make the trip to the forest city. . . . Cleveland Indians open their home season against Detroit Tigers the afternoon of April 18. . . . According to a Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers Institute report, the percentage of fatal hunting mishaps in six onf the nation's largest game states has been cut by fifty percent in eight years. Pennsylvania is included in the survey. . . . Bob Peterson, well-known railroad man, passed away Tuesday. Bob was a clean sportsman. He liked to fish and hunt. Here & There will miss Bob as will many others who enjoyed his friendship for years and years.

Trout season will be ushered in at 5 a. m. Saturday. The limit is 10, each of which must be, at least, six inches in length. Should high water continue the catch may be small. Some devotees of fly-fishing no doubt will use their lures while other anglers will bait their hooks with worms. While writing of trout season it may not be amiss at this time to sound a warning about field and forest fires which are caused by persons flipping cigarettes from autos, into grass along a stream, or from camp fires left unattended. . . . During the past few weeks Pennsylvanians have been thrilled by ducks winging their way northward. . . . Canfield Midget racing will start April 29. . . . Ethan Allen, formerly of the New York Giants, is mentoring Yale and Johnny Vergez, also a former Giant, is telling West Coast St. Mary's how to field and hit. . . . "This is still a free country," said Governor Tom Dewey in vetoing a bill introduced by a Brooklyn fan assemblyman, Lawrence B. Murphy. The bill would have prevented major league ball clubs from staging "split doubleheaders with double admission fee." . . . Ted Springer, who did some good umpiring in Florida games, is home from an Umpires school. . . . John DeMonaco, West Pittsburg, fills a double role, that of wrestling judge and manager of the WP's, City Loop club. . . . Henry Rodgers is president of the Sportsman's Council. George Bolinger is chairman of the banquet affair tonight. . . . Smoking will be prohibited at Friday night's mat exhibitions. Firemen will enforce the regulation.

Yanks Defeats Reds, Indians Top Giants

NEW YORK, April 13.—The world champion New York Y kees found their frist base problem a little less frightening today, principally because of an over-age destroyer from the National league —Johnny Mize.

Big Jawn stood in at first for ailing Tommy Henrich yesterday and contributed a lusty two-run homer as the Yankees downed the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 4.

The game was played at Crosley field in Cincinnati, making it the first played on major league turf this season.

The Chicago Cubs, held to one run by Howie Pollet in the first six innings, broke loose in the seventh and went on to an 8 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Homers by Bob Ramazotti and Andy Pafko accounted for three runs in the big seventh.

All the Cardinal scoring off Bob Rush and Bill Voiselle was done at Rush's expense in the sixth. Eddie Kazak homered during the frame.

The Cleveland Indians also put on a strong finish to whip the New York Giants, 9 to 4, and take an 8-7 lead in their annual barnstorming series. Larry Doby homered for the tribe.

Bob Feller turned his fast ball loose for the first time and pitched hitless ball for four innings. All four Giant runs came in the fifth on two hits and four walks. Feller, Al Benton and Mike Garcia allowed three hits the rest of the way.

Four homeward-bound major league teams were humiliated by minor league opposition yesterday. The Boston Red Sox lost their first game since leaving the south, 4 to 2, to Roanoke of the class B Piedmont league.

The Louisville Colonels clubbed Ken Heintzelman for four runs in the first inning and defeated the Philadelphia Phils 5 to 3. The Athletics lost by the same score to Raleigh of the class C Carolina league. And Gainesville, Tex., a member of the class B Big State loop, edged the St Louis Brows 1 to 0 in a game that lasted only six innings because the Browns had to catch a train.

The Boston Braves and Washington Senators had no such troubles. Sid Hudson went the route as the Senators socked Durham 15 to 6. Home runs by Willard Marshall, Sam Jethroe and Sibbi Sisti helped the Braves take Richmond 18 to 2 behind Johnny Sain and Norm Roy.

In night games, Brooklyn and Baltimore played a ten-inning 3 to 3 tie, and Detroit downed the White Sox 4 to 3.
